U. N. Aide Said Backing Egyptians

World Police Force May Leave Suez After Allies Pull Out

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Egypt was reported today to have the general support of U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld in its demand that the U. N. police force leave the Suez Canal zone after a British-French withdrawal.

With Britain, France and Israel standing firm in their opposition, U. N. diplomats were said to be seriously concerned over the delay in finding a formula to resolve the deadlock.

Hammarskjöld's view of the function of the police force, based on his interpretation of resolutions adopted by the General Assembly, was reported to include possible security duty during the clearing of the blocked waterway. A U. N. spokesman said such "security arrangements" would be subject to negotiation.

Egypt has demanded that Britain, France and Israel immediately withdraw their troops from Egyptian territory seized in their offensive. Britain and France have insisted they will pull their forces out of the northern third of the canal zone only if the positions are taken over by U. N. police troops.

ISRAEL HAS indicated it will try to hang on to the Gaza Strip and so far has not moved to withdraw from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

The U. N. spokesman said clearance of the canal, blocked by the wreckage of two bridges and 47 sunken ships, would be undertaken as authorized by the U. N., with the organization arranging with "a number of firms" to do the work. He added, "The negotiations for the undertaking might also have to cover security arrangements."

"The U. N. emergency force will carry out the functions assigned to it by the General Assembly for the supervision of the cease-fire and the withdrawal of the British-French and Israeli forces," the spokesman continued.

"In so doing," he said, "the U. N. emergency force will contribute to the re-establishment of conditions in which the clearance of the canal can be carried through successfully. No one can at present forecast exactly how long the operation will take."

Earlier estimates have said the job may take six months.

Hammarskjöld's first conference after his return included sessions with British Foreign Secretary Minister Christian Pineau. Both were understood to have insisted that their governments will not withdraw their troops from Egypt unless the U. N. force polices the canal area.

Egypt in turn stood firm on its demand, backed by the Soviet Union, that the U. N. troops must take up positions along the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice line after a speedy withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces.

The commander of the U. N. police force, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, flew back to the Middle East after a series of talks with military representatives of some of the nations contributing troops to the force. More than 600 troops of the U. N. force already were in the canal zone, standing by in barracks behind the Egyptian lines. The first contingent of Indian soldiers, took off from the staging area near Naples at dawn. They were Asia's first contribution to the police force.

Hoover Contends He Was Right In Opposing War II

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover says he has "no regrets" for a stand he took in 1941 opposing United States involvement in World War II.

Hoover, now 82, spoke Monday night at a dinner in connection with the dedication of a new boys' club. In his speech of June 29, 1941, he said that Britain was "now safe from German invasion due to Hitler's diversion to his attack upon Russia."

"I said the gargantuan jest of all history would be if we should give aid to Stalin in the war," Hoover said. "I said the result would be to spread communism over the world."

"I urged that we stand aside while these two monsters exhausted each other; that if we stood aside the time would come when we could, by our strength, bring lasting peace to the world."

PUCO May Probe Rate Setup Of Struck Telephone Firm

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio will seriously consider launching its own investigation of the fairness of rates Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. has been charging since a strike began July 15.

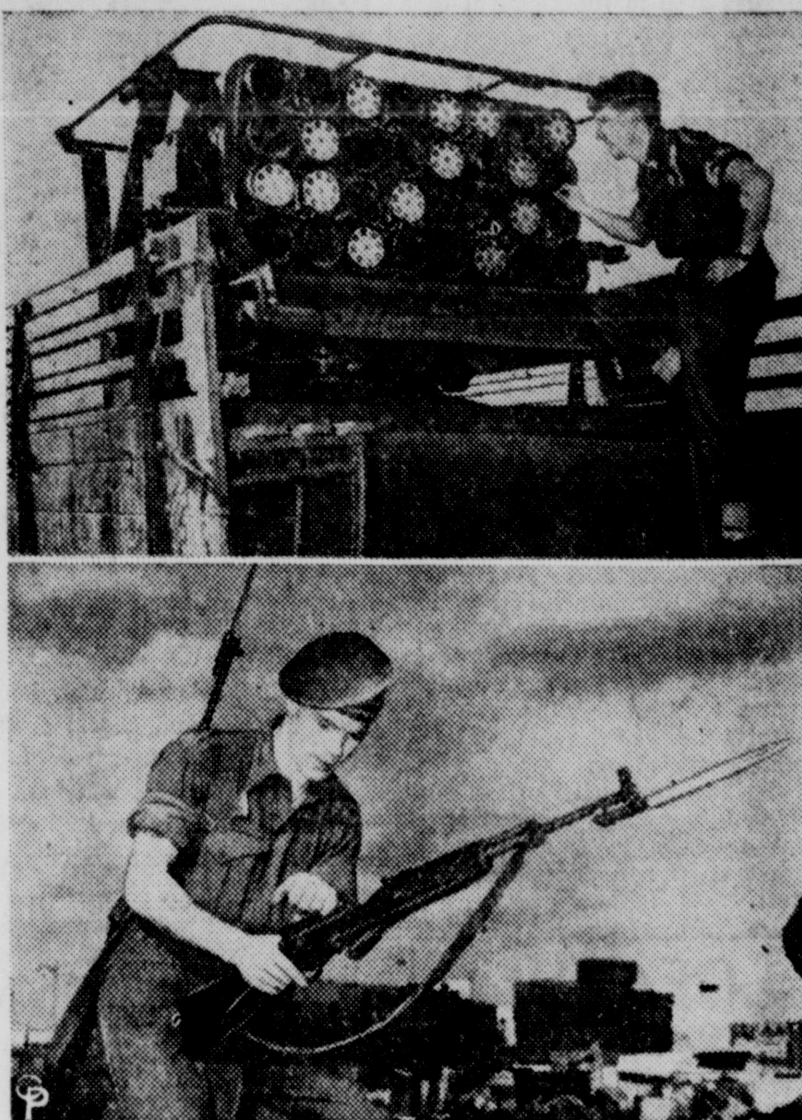

That was announced today by the commission chairman, Robert Moulton, at a public hearing on rates in Jefferson County.

The Yorkville-Tiltsville-Rayland Board of Trade believes rate charges are too high for the service rendered.

Attorney Hugo Alexander of Steubenville, representing the board, today suggested PUCO investigate charges throughout the company's 39 exchanges.

Alexander is not the only lawyer sharply critical of Ohio Consolidated rate charges. In the past, Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney William Ammer has hammered against the firm's rate policies. At one time, he advised Pickaway County patrons not to pay their bills.

Huge Earth-Mover Machine Goes Off Road; 2 Men Seriously Hurt

Two men employed by the C. F. Replogle construction company were seriously injured yesterday when the giant earth-mover they were operating apparently went out of control on a hill six miles west of Lancaster on Route 22 in Fairfield County.

The injured men are Logan Payne, 36, 543 E. Union St., and Henry C. Harris Jr., Crooksville. Harris was driving the huge 51,000 pound vehicle and Payne was serving as flagman.

Payne, the more seriously injured of the two, lost his right hand. The arm was later amputated near the elbow. The local man also suffered a fractured left hip.

Harris was treated for concussions and lacerations of the head. His left ear was badly lacerated.

BOTH MEN were taken to Fairfield County Hospital where they were reported in fair condition early today.

Due to the extent of the injuries, they could not be questioned as yet concerning details of the accident.

The crash took place on a steep incline on Route 22, commonly known as "One Mile Hill". The two construction men were moving

Priest Is Soloist For Symphony

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Jesuit psychology professor turns pianist tonight to help Xavier University mark its 125th birthday.

He's the Rev. John H. Reinke who will join the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra in what the school calls the first appearance of a Roman Catholic priest with a major symphony in the United States.

The Rev. Fr. Reinke of the Xavier faculty is slated to be soloist in Gershwin's Concerto in F, and with an Xavier graduate student, P. P. Lyanich, will play Xavieriana, a new work by Dr. Felix Labunski of Cincinnati's College-Conservatory of Music.

U.S. Mediator Scolds Dock Strike Parties

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal mediator has scolded union and management negotiators with a warning to "stop fiddling around" and settle the dock strike.

But the paralyzing walkout by 60,000 dock workers moved into its fifth day today with no sign of settlement. From 150 to 200 ships remained idle at deserted piers from Maine to Texas.

Negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Assn. and the New York Shipping Assn. resume contract talks today.

After a fruitless session Monday, Robert H. Moore, federal mediator, said he had told both sides to "stop fiddling around."

He said he informed the negotiators he didn't think there would be any immediate government intervention to stop the strike under the Taft-Hartley law.

As the contract talks continued the economic pinch caused by the strike grew more painful.

The nation's railroads ordered a halt to rail shipment of almost all export freight to all strike-bound ports. The order was aimed at blocking a massive tieup of freight cars at ports.

The strike was already costing the nation's economy millions of dollars a day.

The union struck last Thursday midnight when its old contract ran out. Main issues in the dispute are union demands for a single contract to cover all East and Gulf ports, a full day's pay for any man called to the piers, no cut in the present two-man work gangs and a limit on the amount of cargo loaded in slings.

MID-EAST TENSION BUILDING UP AGAIN

News In Brief

Poles Object To New Pact

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—A Polish newspaper says demonstrations and riots erupted in Poland while Poland's Communist party chief was in Moscow negotiating on future Polish-Soviet relations.

The newspaper Express Wieszorne received here today said disorders occurred Sunday at Bromberg. It said students and young workers set fire to the city's radio station and then fought off police and fire brigades.

Political observers here said, there was no doubt that riots broke out after announcement that the new agreement between Gomulka and the Kremlin leadership did not include provisions for the withdrawal of Soviet troops.

The independent Vienna newspaper Neuer Kurier reported "tension and disturbances" throughout Poland due to Gomulka's "talking the Moscow line."

Another Polish paper, the Glos Olszynski, told of an anti-Soviet demonstration by students at Olsztyn (Allenstein), in former German East Prussia.

The Moscow communiqué on the talks said the Polish chieftain and the Kremlin leaders agreed that Soviet troops must remain in Poland, but the Poles were given veto power over Russian troop movements within their country. Western observers in Moscow and Communist officials in Warsaw got the idea that Gomulka got everything he asked for, and may be more, in his meetings with the Soviet leaders.

BERLIN (AP)—In a move to help pacify its restless labor force, Communist East Germany announced today it will permit the country's factories to begin setting up workers' committees. But their function will be mostly advisory and Communist union officials must approve their membership.

GENEVA (AP)—All Switzerland stood in three minutes' silent homage today to the freedom fighters of Hungary.

ISTANBUL (AP)—City authorities ordered gasoline rationing today to guard against a possible shortage as a result of the closing of the Suez Canal. Private cars will be allowed 1½ to 2 gallons a day but none on Sunday. Public service vehicles are exempt.

TAIPEI (AP)—The Defense ministry said today it had intelligence reports that the Chinese Communists had built rocket-launching sites on the Fukien coast, 100 miles west of Formosa.

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communists claimed today one of Great Britain's chief "spies" in Berlin has deserted to them.

The official East German news agency ADN identified the man as Harald Trautmann. A British spokesman labeled the claims "ridiculous" and added, "We never heard of him."

U.S. Tax Collection Jumps By 13 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collections totaled $75,113,000,000 for the year ended June 30, 1956, an increase of $8,824,000,000 or about 13 per cent, over the total for the preceding fiscal year.

This was reported today by Russell Harrington, Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He attributed the increase largely to higher levels of personal income, corporate earnings and business.

Show Thankfulness By 'Being Careful'

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohioans can demonstrate thankfulness for being alive by being careful during the Thanksgiving holiday, the highway safety department says.

He urged continued caution if Ohio is to continue its trend toward a reduction in traffic fatalities.

4-H Honors Won By Kingston Girl

Sidney Graves, Pickaway County Club Member, Represents State

Miss Sidney Graves, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graves of Kingston Route 1, is the latest member of a Pickaway County 4-H Club to be awarded high honors.

She was awarded the Ohio 4-H Certificate of Honor in Citizenship for 1956, an honor that comes in recognition of excellent records in several fields of activity related to 4-H work. Through the Ohio American Legion, sponsoring the award, Miss Graves will be given a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago November 24-28.

At the Chicago gathering she will compete for national awards. During the 4-H year just completed, Miss Graves was a member of the Logan Elm Sunny Sewers and Pickaway Senior Livestock Clubs in Pickaway County.

A SENIOR in the Pickaway Township High School, Miss Graves was selected by the state 4-H club headquarters at Ohio State University on the basis of her activities while in school.

As a member of the Sunny Sewers, she has taken projects in sewing, grooming, dairy, and junior leadership, and has been a junior leader four consecutive years.

She was a member of the Ross County Junior Fair Board in 1955 and 1956, was the winner in the 4-H "heart" contest, and is active in Grange and church work.

City Loses 2nd Round In Pinball Fight

COLUMBUS (AP)—City officials lost their second round in a fight against pinball machines Monday when Common Pleas Judge Robert N. Draper ruled an ordinance too prohibitory.

Ordinances banning possession of pinball machines in public places and businesses were to have taken effect last June 14. But Judge Draper granted a temporary restraining order to pinball machine owners at that time.

The order was challenged on legal grounds by the city attorney's office.

In Monday's opinion, Judge Draper said the existing ordinance "tends to prohibit the exhibition of pinball machines anywhere except in private homes."

He said that "certainly there would not be a sufficient demand for pinball machines in a private home to allow operators of them to continue in business."

Earlier, Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds had ruled other pinball ordinances prohibitory rather than regulatory. He suggested the city change the laws.

French Deny Fliers Aid Israel Attack

LONDON (AP)—The Manchester Guardian asserted today that "French aircraft flown by French pilots in French uniform" took part in Israel's invasion of Egypt.

A French Defense Ministry spokesman in Paris "most emphatically" denied the report. "This is absolutely untrue," he said. "Not a single French pilot, whether in uniform or not, did take part in the Israeli offensive or did fly planes from Israeli bases."

THEN THEY lurched into the rarefied polar air, with the assistance of jato rockets clamped to the wings, and headed back for this base.

Four other planes hovered overhead during the C47 landings, ready to drop paramedics in the event of a crash. One of the craft, a giant Globemaster, dropped a four-ton seasel—a vehicle equipped with caterpillar tracks to travel over the snow.

The Seabees unfastened the weasel from its platform—on which it was dropped under three parachutes—and drove off through the snow.

England Joins Nations Set To Ration Fuel

U.N. Police Force To Move To Quell Allied-Egypt Friction

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New anxieties developed in Europe today amid growing tension in the Middle East.

Numerous nations were tightening their belts against the shortage of oil and a portion of the United Nations police force sought to prevent a new clash between Egyptians and British-French troops.

In the disputed Suez Canal Zone, U. N. observers began an inquiry to determine whether Egyptian firing at British-French forces near the El Cap battle lines should be considered a violation of the truce.

British and French officers protested an outburst of shooting from the Egyptian lines Sunday and an hour of wild firing Monday. They said their troops suffered no casualties and did not shoot back.

The Egyptians charged Britain and France with imposing "undeclared martial law" on Port Said, at the northern end of the canal, and with "committing brutal acts against its civilian population."

In Cairo, Col. C. F. Moe of Norway, deputy U. N. police force commander, said a company of Norwegian troops under U. N. command was preparing to move into Port Said Wednesday "to prevent friction between the Egyptian population and British-French troops."

MOE SAID the movement had no relation to British-French withdrawal from the city. The move would be the first action by U. N. troops since they began arriving at Abu Suweir air base in the canal zone last week. There are 674 U. N. troops at the base now.

The Norwegian commander said the Egyptian government had agreed to the move by 175 men and 15 officers in talks with U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld here. The men will be armed with light machineguns and rifles and will take seven days supplies with them.

Tension in Port Said is reported to have increased in the last few days, with passive resistance by the population to the British-French forces growing.

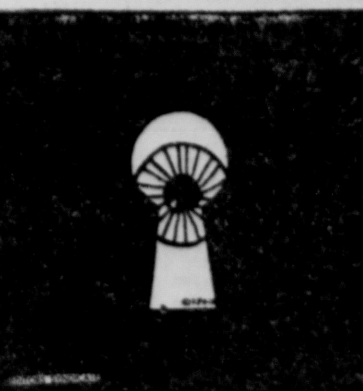

The British commander has asked that a proclamation be made putting the population under a modified form of military rule in order to counteract alleged intimidation of Egyptians cooperating with the military forces. His request was reported referred to British and French governments.

Col. Moe said the presence of the U. N. force in Port Said "would ease the tension."

A cross between a sheep dog and a bolt of terry cloth which results in a towel that runs back to the hotel after the guests steal it. Dr. Schwine claims that if a big hotel magnate like Conrad Hilton would buy these ideas they'd both make lots of money. Anyway Dr. Schwine would.

Council Meeting May Center On Revenue Woes

City council prepared today for its first meeting since the presidential election, haunted by the fact that a badly needed city operating levy failed to pass at the polls by a margin of 63 votes.

While officials said no major legislation seemed to be ready for action tonight, when the lawmakers meet at 8 p. m., current subjects included a variety of important topics. Several of them stem from the city's urgent need of another main source of revenue.

Members of council and other officials have renewed talks on the feasibility of expanding the corporation to the east, a possibility discussed off and on in council for many years.

Current studies in this regard have been given impetus by the failure of the proposed operating levy to win approval at the polls November 6.

ALSO because of the levy's failure, Chairman George Crites of council's finance committee may renew his request for the lawmaking body to "get serious" about a municipal income tax.

Key members of council indicated they are far from enthusiastic about any move at this time to expand the city's eastern limits for the sake of added tax revenue.

They point to the problems encountered in the new North Annex since that section was added to the corporation, and argue that the city's far Northend must now be developed before expansion can be considered elsewhere—at least in the way of adequate sewers.

Stassen Says All Ikemen To 'Resign'

DAYTON (AP)—Harold Stassen said here Monday night that all members of President Eisenhower's cabinet will submit their resignations at the end of the President's term of office.

Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament added that "none of us say anything about it until the President does." Stassen declined a direct answer to a question as to whether he thought he would be reappointed.

Stassen was here to speak before a World Affairs Student Institute. He said the draft is necessary to maintain a reasonable strength for the sake of peace.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohioans can demonstrate thankfulness for being alive by being careful during the Thanksgiving holiday, the highway safety department says.

Director U. C. Felty said empty chairs around the table in many Ohio homes "would be filled with those like you and me, had they not met their fate in unfortunate and preventable traffic accidents."

He urged continued caution if Ohio is to continue its trend toward a reduction in traffic fatalities.

4-H Honors Won By Kingston Girl

Sidney Graves, Pickaway County Club Member, Represents State

Miss Sidney Graves, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graves of Kingston Route 1, is the latest member of a Pickaway County 4-H Club to be awarded high honors.

She was awarded the Ohio 4-H Certificate of Honor in Citizenship for 1956, an honor that comes in recognition of excellent records in several fields of activity related to 4-H work. Through the Ohio American Legion, sponsoring the award, Miss Graves will be given a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago November 24-28.

At the Chicago gathering she will compete for national awards. During the 4-H year just completed, Miss Graves was a member of the Logan Elm Sunny Sewers and Pickaway Senior Livestock Clubs in Pickaway County.

A SENIOR in the Pickaway Township High School, Miss Graves was selected by the state 4-H club headquarters at Ohio State University on the basis of her activities while in school.

As a member of the Sunny Sewers, she has taken projects in sewing, grooming, dairy, and junior leadership, and has been a junior leader four consecutive years.

She was a member of the Ross County Junior Fair Board in 1955 and 1956, was the winner in the 4-H "heart" contest, and is active in Grange and church work.

Thus Ohio will have hopes resting on two district girls when the national 4-H competition opens.

While Miss Graves will be trying for national laurels in the citizenship contest, Miss Patsy Wills of Mt. Sterling Route 1 will be carrying the state's best wishes in the national Health Improvement contest.

Sidney Graves

Miss Wills is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wills and is widely known for her 4-H work in behalf of health programs. Her award was announced some time ago.

Miss Wills topped all other Ohio 4-H girls in the health competition at the Ohio State Fair this year. She is a member of the Monroe Stitches and Baskets, and also the Future Farmers of Monroe.

Yankee Seabees Setting Up First Colony At South Pole

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—Americans colonized the South Pole today.

Eight Navy Seabees and 11 sled dogs are the first residents of the bleak, snow-topped plateau at the bottom of the world, where the temperature today was 29 degrees below zero.

The party landed just after midnight in two ski-equipped C47 Dakotas. Their safe arrival was reported by radio to U. S. air base 800 miles away on the coast of Antarctica.

The Navy men will set up a camp for American scientists who will spend the black antarctic winter at the pole. Their observations will be part of the U. S. contribution to the worldwide study of the earth and its atmosphere during the International Geophysical Year.

The men who landed today will be the first in all history to live at the pole.

The planes remained on the snow about an hour while the dogs, sleds, tents, food and emergency gear were unloaded.

THEN THEY lunched into the rarefied polar air, with the assistance of jato rockets clamped to the wings, and headed back for this base.

Four other planes hovered overhead during the C47 landings, ready to drop paramedics in the event of a crash. One of the craft, a giant Globemaster, dropped a four-ton sealer—a vehicle equipped with caterpillar tracks to travel over the snow.

The Seabees unfurled the weasel from its platform—on which it was dropped under three parachutes—and drove off through the snow.

French Deny Fliers Aid Israel Attack

LONDON (AP)—The Manchester Guardian asserted today that "French aircraft flown by French pilots in French uniforms" took part in Israel's invasion of Egypt.

A French Defense Ministry spokesman in Paris "most emphatically" denied the report. "This is absolutely untrue," he said. "Not a single French pilot, whether in uniform or not, did take part in the Israeli offensive or did fly planes from Israeli bases."

Earlier, Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds had ruled other pinball ordinances prohibitive rather than regulatory. He suggested the city change the laws.

New Telephone Firm Chieftain Selected

U.N. Police Force To Move To Quell Allied-Egypt Friction

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New anxieties developed in Europe today amid growing tension in the Middle East.

Numerous nations were tightening their belts against the shortage of oil and a portion of the United Nations police force sought to prevent a new clash between Egyptians and British-French troops.

In the disputed Suez Canal Zone, U. N. observers began an inquiry to determine whether Egyptian firing at British-French forces near the El Cap battle lines should be considered a violation of the truce.

British and French officers protested an outburst of shooting from the Egyptian lines Sunday and an hour of wild firing Monday. They said their troops suffered no casualties and did not shoot back.

The Egyptians charged Britain and France with imposing "undeclared martial law" on Port Said, at the northern end of the canal, and with "committing brutal acts against its civilian population."

In Cairo, Col. C. F. Moe of Norway, deputy U. N. police force commander, said a company of Norwegian troops under U. N. command was preparing to move into Port Said Wednesday "to prevent friction between the Egyptian population and British-French troops."

MOE SAID the movement had no relation to British-French withdrawal from the city. The move would be the first action by U. N. troops since they began arriving at Abu Suweir air base in the canal zone last week. There are 674 U. N. troops at the base now.

The Norwegian commander said the Egyptian government had agreed to the move by 175 men and 15 officers in talks with U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld here. The men will be armed with light machineguns and rifles and will take seven days supplies with them.

Tension in Port Said is reported to have increased in the last few days, with passive resistance by the population to the British-French forces growing.

The British commander has asked that a proclamation be made putting the population under a modified form of military rule in order to counteract alleged intimidation with the military forces. His request was reported referred to British and French governments.

Col. Moe said the presence of the U. N. force in Port Said "would ease the tension."

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"GUESTS VIEW OF HOTEL DETECTIVE"

Dr. Schwine, who posed for this Droodle, agreed to do so only if I'd give a little free publicity to some of the new gadgets he's just invented for Hotels, so here they are: 1. A 21-inch Keyhole for the benefit of Chambermaids who never get to see Television. 2. Cast Iron Soap. 3. Ether-dipped mattresses for guests who don't have much faith in "Do Not Disturb" signs. 4. A cross between a sheep dog and a bolt of terry cloth which results in a towel that runs back to the hotel after the guests steal it. Dr. Schwine claims that if a big hotel magnate like Conrad Hilton would buy these ideas they'd both make lots of money. Anyway Dr. Schwine would.

Council Meeting May Center On Revenue Woes

City council prepared today for its first meeting since the presidential election, haunted by the fact that a badly needed city operating levy failed to pass at the polls by a margin of 63 votes.

While officials said no major legislation seemed to be ready for action tonight, when the lawmaking body meets at 8 p. m., current subjects included a variety of important topics. Several of them stem from the city's urgent need of another main source of revenue.

Members of council and other officials have renewed talks on the feasibility of expanding the corporation to the east, a possibility discussed off and on in council for many years.

Current studies in this regard have been given impetus by the failure of the proposed operating levy to win approval at the polls November 6.

ALSO because of the levy's failure, Chairman George Crites of council's finance committee may renew his request for the lawmaking body to "get serious" about a municipal income tax.

Key members of council indicated they are far from enthusiastic about any move at this time to expand the city's eastern limits for the sake of added tax revenue.

They point to the problems encountered in the new North Annex since that section was added to the corporation, and argue that the city's far Northend must now be developed before expansion can be considered elsewhere—at least in the way of adequate sewers.

Stassen Says All Ikemen To 'Resign'

DAYTON (AP)—Harold Stassen said here Monday night that all members of President Eisenhower's cabinet will submit their resignations at the end of the President's term of office.

Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament added that "none of us say anything about it until the President does." Stassen declined a direct answer to a question as to whether he thought he would be reappointed.

Stassen was here to speak before a World Affairs Student Institute. He said the draft is necessary to maintain reasonable strength for the sake of peace.

Bank Loot Flutters

SEATTLE (AP)—A paper bag stuffed with $34,000 broke open as two gunmen made their getaway from a bank holdup Monday. Bills totaling $10,300 fluttered to the street, the FBI said. The bandits got away with the rest.

England Joins Nations Set To Ration Fuel

ment announced today it will start rationing gasoline and oil used in motor vehicles beginning Dec. 17.
"Necessary orders have been made" Minister of Fuel and Power Aubrey Jones reported.

THERE WILL be a basic ration for all motorists with a limited supplementary allowance for essential purposes, he said.
The step was taken to meet the shortages caused by the blockade of the Suez Canal that followed the British - French invasion of Egypt. The Suez is the main supply route for British oil.

The pinch resulting from blockade of the canal was being felt with increasing intensity throughout Western Europe.
Production cutbacks in some industries already are appearing in a number of British firms.

Jones gave no immediate indication as to what ration allowances would be granted.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli government imposed a four-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline to help pay the cost of the campaign that captured Egypt's Sinai.

In The Hague, the Dutch government today banned most motorized traffic on Sunday to avert a gasoline shortage because of the crisis.

Istanbul, Turkey, announced earlier that it was rationing private autos to about two gallons of gasoline a day and none on Sundays.

In London, Stanley Evans, a Laborite member of Parliament who rebelled against his party's condemnation of the British-French invasion of Egypt, said he will resign his seat. The party has asked his resignation, Evans said, and "I will comply."

With workmen putting the Christmas trimmings over Court and Main in the downtown district, local stores reported the volume of Christmas shopping on a steady increase—vanguard of the traditional boom that always comes.

To aid the army of buyers, here once more are the special store-hour rules announced for the holiday stretch by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Circleville Chamber of Commerce. Shoppers are urged to make themselves a memo of the information.

Circleville stores will be open every Friday and Saturday evening, beginning next Friday and ending December 22. Stores will also be open every Wednesday afternoon.

And during the week before Christmas, they will be open every night.

On Christmas Eve, the stores will close at 6 p. m.

Ouster Of Eden Hinted In London

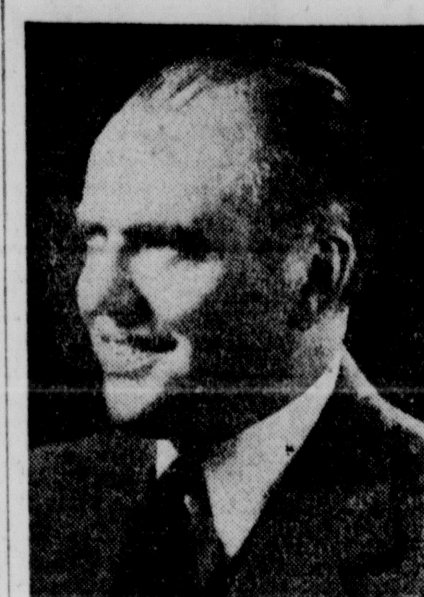

LONDON (U.S.A.)—R. A. Butler, No. 2 man in the British government, presided over a cabinet meeting today in place of ailing Prime Minister Eden, ordered to rest because of "severe overstrain."

The mere fact that Eden was ordered to take it easy at a time when Britain faced some of the hardest questions to come out of the prolonged Middle East crisis led to speculation that his time as prime minister is nearing an end.

Eden has been under heavy fire ever since his decision to join with France in invading Egypt two weeks ago. The opposition Labor party has vigorously called for his resignation.

There have been some minor defections in his own Conservative party. Despite the fact that Eden has won half a dozen crucial confidence votes in Parliament, there have been persistent reports that even deeper cracks exist in the Conservative ranks.

In Paris, the newspaper France Soir concluded that Eden was suffering a diplomatic illness — often the first step in the removal of a political leader.

Ellis Snyder, Local Native, To Lead Choir

Dr. Ellis Snyder, a widely known music teacher and choral conductor who won his first recognition in Pickaway County, will lead the famed Capital University chapel choir in a concert here on Tuesday, November 27.

The concert will be presented in the Circleville High School auditorium on that evening at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission charge.

Over a quarter of a century ago, Snyder heard several concerts by a great acappella choir—one that sings without instrumental accompaniment. The experience inspired him to such a degree that it led eventually to formation of the nationally famous chapel choir, also an acappella group.

The choir, which has approximately 100 voices, is especially well known for its religious music.

DR. SNYDER has not confined himself exclusively to the chapel choir over the years of his professional career. He has served as national chairman of church music for the National Federation of Music Clubs, is active in the Kiwanis Club, and has been of great service to the church as minister of music in the Capital University College church, and as director of the Choral Union of the Lutheran League of the American Lutheran Church.

In the early part of his career, he was choir director of Trinity Lutheran Church in this city. On May 15, 1954, at the St. Olaf College Annual Fine Arts Festival, he was granted the degree of Doctor of Music.

Berserk Man Kills 2 Cops In Gun Battle

FLINT, Mich. (U.S.A.)—A berserk gunman, handling a deer rifle with deadly accuracy, shot and killed state troopers George E. Lappi, 28, and Bert Pozza, 27, who were called to a rural home Monday to quell a family row.

Lappi died on the day after his eighth wedding anniversary. His wife is expecting another child in a few days. Pozza died on his wife's birthday. Both have two small children.

Another state trooper, Cpl. Robert Vesey, was wounded in the ankle during a 45 - minute siege before Harry G. Richards, 63, was driven from his home by bullets and tear gas fired by 75 policemen.

Richards, a retired Flint postal clerk is a police prisoner at a hospital. He was treated for tear gas effects. Police said he was too incoherent to tell what happened. They quoted his friends as saying he had been deteriorating mentally since suffering a stroke in 1948. His wife said he had been under psychiatric care.

Mrs. Richards said her husband became enraged during an argument over "a mere nothing" and struck her in the face with a small coal shovel. She called the troopers.

Holmes was arrested by city police and Thomas was cited by the state patrol.

Three Columbus hunters, D. B. Shortridge, 43, Donald Shortridge, 23, and Ralph L. Fleck, each was fined $15 and costs for failing to display a hunting license. Each was fined an additional $10 and costs for hunting without written permission.

OTHER nimrods fined $10 and costs for hunting without written permission were as follows:

Asian Powers Rapping Soviet

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U.S.A.)—India and two other Asian neutrals, Ceylon and Indonesia, are backing U. N. moves to make an on-the-spot check in Hungary.

The three nations, which had kept aloof from the Hungarian dispute, put in a resolution calling on Hungary's Communist government to grant Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's request to let in U. N. observers.

Hungary's puppet regime has refused to admit U. N. political observers but has said it would allow relief supplies with U. N. representatives to enter Hungary. However, it has evaded a request from Hammarskjold that he be admitted as head of the relief mission.

The Assembly Monday debated Cuba's call for the Soviet Union to stop deportations of Hungarians, but V. K. Krishna Menon of India reportedly asked that the Asian powers be given priority.

Informed sources said the Russians were perturbed over the sudden move by the three Asian nations, whom they had expected to keep silent during the debate.

INDIAN PRIME Minister Nehru, after instant prodding by opposition Socialists and some newspapers, told the Indian Parliament Monday that Soviet troops were camped in Hungary against the wishes of the Hungarian people.

Nehru declared the bitter resistance of Hungarian workers had "powerfully affected" Russia's prestige in Eastern Europe and elsewhere. He said U. N. observers should be admitted to determine the actual situation.

During the debate on the Cuban resolution, Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said the United States had information that Russia has deported 16,000 persons in boxcars from Budapest. "It is inevitable," Lodge declared, "that many of the men will die from cold and exposure, just as the unfortunate victims of the Nazi concentration camps died."

Shea Announces New Insurance Dividends Coming For Veterans

Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer James P. Shea announced today that policy holders of 5-year term U. S. Government Life Insurance (World War I insurance) will receive dividends in 1957, the first time in 25 years.

The Veterans Administration has also announced a $25,000,000 increase in the regular annual 1957 dividend for approximately 5,000,000 policy holders of national service life insurance (World War II insurance).

Holders of the World War I policies will be paid dividends out of a total disbursement of $26,000,000 for both term and permanent plan policies.

The term-policy holders, numbering about 20,000, will receive approximately $1,000,000. The permanent plan holders, numbering about 330,000, will receive the remaining $25,000,000.

ACCORDING to the VA, each World War I term policy holder will be notified by letter. The dividends should amount to an average of 20 per cent of the premiums being paid by these 20,000 veterans.

The World War II dividend to be paid represents a 13 per cent increase over 1956. Both groups of policy holders, term and permanent, will benefit by the increase.

Higher age groups will generally get a larger increase than the lower age groups.

As in the past, dividends will be paid on or about the anniversary date of the policy, beginning in January and ending in December, 1957.

Questions concerning the dividend payments should be referred to Service Officer Shea. His office is located in the basement of the Court House.

U.S. Reds See 'Tragic Error' By Russians

NEW YORK (U.S.A.)—The national committee of the American Communist party says "we do not seek to justify the use of Soviet troops in Hungary's internal crisis on Nov. 4."

A letter to party members from the committee adds, however: "Neither do we join in the condemnation of this action. Were there no alternatives? Was it a grim necessity? There are no ready answers and we are in no position to give final judgment on the Soviet action."

The committee's 2,500-word letter to members was made public Monday night.

In a long discussion of events in Hungary, the letter said: "The Oct. 24 decision of the Geroe government to call upon Soviet troops stationed in Hungary to put down the initial popular demonstrations inflamed the situation to a grave crisis."

"This was a tragic error for which the Soviet Union must also take responsibility. It disclosed the failure of a policy which was not based securely upon the national needs and sentiments of the working class and popular masses in Hungary."

The state patrol identified the dead man as William A. Copeland Jr., 40, of Decatur, Ga., the driver.

Both he and his passenger, Fred Raborn, 23, of Smyrna, Ga., were pinned in the truck, but Raborn managed to get out with abrasions of the arms and hands, the patrol said.

Norstad Assumes NATO Command

PARIS (U.S.A.)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther handed over the supreme command of the 15-nation Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe to U. S. Air Force Gen. Lauris Norstad.

The new commander said he took over the post "with a firm belief that NATO is more important than ever before."

"The Soviets have again, and perhaps more wantonly and brutally than ever before, demonstrated that they understand only force," Norstad said.

14-Year-Old Boy Bulldozes City Grocery With Family Car

Apparently over-anxious to learn to drive, a 14-year-old Circleville boy learned the hard way that it is no easy task to operate an automobile.

The lad is probably well aware of this fact today, because the car he decided to use crashed into the side of a grocery store at Pickaway and Watt Streets last night at approximately 6:45 p. m.

The auto, owned by the boy's parents, crashed into a grocery owned by Denver Greenlee.

Although the building is of solid brick structure, the car made a great hole in the wall. The car hit the wall of the building and part of a side door.

GREENLEE said damage to the inside of his store was "terrific." After crashing through the wall, the front of the vehicle plowed into several shelves, the impact smashing a vast number of bottles and pling other store goods almost 3 feet high.

Greenlee said eight people worked until 2 a. m. today to clear away the debris.

Big Business Puts On More Profit Weight

15 Firms So Far Show $100 Million Take After Paying Taxes

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the biggest boys are putting on more profit weight this year. And even when their corporate earnings are running behind a year ago, they aren't exactly wasting away.

Fifteen American nonfinancial corporations each have made more than 100 million dollars after taxes so far this year. That is one more than earned that much in the first nine months of 1955. In prewar 1939 only two of them made that much—the Bell Telephone system and General Motors.

Four of this year's 15 stayed above the 100 million mark although reporting earnings dropped below last year's.

When all of 1956's earnings after taxes are tallied, two more corporations may join the 15. Their nine months profits weren't too far below the mark.

The summer steel strike and the auto sales drop changed the standings of some of the top 15 money makers, and pushed another one out of the list.

Bethlehem Steel, which at this time last year had earned more than 100 million dollars, was just under that figure when the summer quarter ended.

Ford, which at this time last year ranked fourth among the giants of profit, is down to 11th place now after a 53 per cent tumble.

General Motors, despite a 30 per cent drop in earnings so far this year, still holds top rank, however, edging out Jersey Standard Oil by about the length of a wrap around bumper. The Detroit giant made 639½ million dollars, while the big oil company reports its nine month's net at 603 million to retain second place. It was 15 per cent rise for Jersey.

The Bell system holds onto third position with a gain of 14 per cent, reporting 550½ million dollars net income.

Du Pont was moved into Ford's old place at fourth, although the chemical firm's profits this year are 4 per cent lower than last year, when it was fifth.

U. S. Steel moved up from sixth to fifth, although earnings were off 9 per cent, while the Texas Co. went from seventh to sixth with a 9 per cent increase in profits from its oil activities. Gulf Oil rose even faster, from eleventh to seventh place on a 42 per cent jump.

Du Pont, big steel, Texas and Gulf were all in the 200 million to 300 million bracket.

Eighth, ninth and tenth positions didn't change, being held by California Standard Oil, Socony Mobil and General Electric, respectively — each better than 150 million dollars.

Kennecott Copper jumped from 16th to 12th this year—from 82 million dollars profit in the first nine months of 1955 to 116 million this time, a gain of 42 per cent.

Indiana Standard Oil retained 13th place despite gaining 12 per cent in earnings this year.

U.S. Supreme Court Denies Extra Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has decided federal employees paid on a daily basis are not entitled to an extra day's pay for each holiday they worked during World War II.

Alfred C. Bergh, a welder at the Norfolk naval shipyard, contended he was entitled to extra pay for working on four legal holidays in 1945. Bergh was upheld by the U. S. Court of Claims here, and the Justice Department appealed to the high tribunal.

The department said the court of claims decision caused more than 70,000 similar wartime pay claims to be filed, their total amounting to $750 million.

Fuel Expert Dies

COLUMBUS (AP)—Edward A. Norman, 77, a director of Norman Products Co. and deputy fuel administrator of New York City during World War I, died Monday.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 45, married 19 years and have three children—ages 18, 14 and 10. I am small—five feet, four inches tall, and weigh 122 pounds. My problem is the terrible fatigue I am constantly fighting, and apparently the cause isn't physical.

In the past I've had many friends, and was president of a woman's group of 500 members, but recently I dropped all participation as I hadn't the energy. Now I never hear from these women, and I just feel relieved; but during the long hours from 9 a. m. to mid-afternoon I find myself talking to me.

I get so tired after an hour's work that I drop on the sofa or bed and have a smoke and start musing. Sometimes I fall asleep. Occasionally I turn on the TV but lapse into musings even despite this distraction. Maybe the answer is to get a job in the midst of people; but this seems impossible if I want to keep my marriage a good one.

I do my own housework in a seven-room house. I cook, sew, drive a car, take my husband's business calls and do his typing. Also I read a lot and help the children with their homework; but I don't enjoy any of it, because I am always tired.

Yet I feel I have constructive potentials, even now, if I could master the tiredness—which surely must have a mental base. My health is good. Illnesses I suffered in the past—migraine headaches, gall bladder upsets, nerves, etc.—have all passed away. Now the trouble is fatigue and backache.

G. R.

DEAR G. R.: Taking into account the overall picture of your adult life—as devoted spouse, attentive mother, willing homemaker, one-time clubwoman—I doubt that your problem of acute fatigue has a mental origin.

Your emotional orientation, as expressed in your social (or human) values—that is, in the things you consider important: like being a fulltime wife, helping your children, assisting in women's club work, etc.—indicates that you are predisposed to be wholesome, average and normal.

But your history of ailments suggests that your physical and nervous equipment has been obliged to run on insufficient fuel, of one kind or another. So I think you ought to thoroughly check this possibility. To inform yourself of the many disorders, including exhaustion, that may be induced by individual "wrong" diet—and bearing in mind that "one man's meat is another man's poison"—you might read the following two books:

"Body, Mind and Sugar," by Dr. E. M. Abrahamson and A. W. Pezet (Henry Holt publishers); and "Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit," by Adelle Davis (Harcourt, Brace).

Pioneering medical men are endorsing the sound scientific sense of the first-named book, which tells of a vast amount of laboratory research work invested in tracking down a blood sugar imbalance, and unmasking it as a heretofore hidden factor in illness—contributing to "alcoholism, neurosis, suicide, allergy, chronic fatigue," etc. The authors refer to a simple basic diet, that is markedly beneficial in such cases—when a blood sugar condition is giving trouble.

Adelle Davis' book says "nutrition is a personal matter"—and what you eat (or fail to eat) makes a powerful difference in all what the body needs, of vitamins, your experience. She explains minerals, fats, etc., to maintain good functioning.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Before Executing That Turkey, Talk To Him Very Softly

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A hypnotist is suggesting "a humane Thanksgiving" by putting the turkey in a trance before the ax falls.

"This is easily done by first talking to him very softly, laying his head quietly on the ground where you stretch a piece of white string," says Arthur Ellen, who continues:

"His eyes focus on the string, thereby allaying his fears and virtually putting him to sleep. The bird is not frightened at the time of the execution, tastes better due to the absence of adrenalin in the bloodstream and plucks easier because the muscles holding the feathers are relaxed."

Michigan Town Builds 'Nativity'

CASS CITY, Mich. (AP)—This small community 80 miles north of Detroit is building its own "Bethlehem" for the renewal of a Christmas pageant which has won it renown as the "Christmas town of Michigan."

By today volunteers had completed most of the groundwork on a replica of Bethlehem for the scenes of the Dec. 16 Pageant of the Nativity. The set is on a hillside overlooking this Tuscola County village. Some 250 of the townspeople are ready to re-enact the roles that brought national attention to the pageant two years ago.

The show was not staged last year, but is being revived by the Cass City Pageant Assn. because of many requests.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Court House in Circleville.)

Q—I have just received notice from the draft board that I have been reclassified in Class 5A. What does that mean?

A—5A is a registrant over the age of liability for military service.

Q—I am the widow of a veteran who died as the result of a service connected disability. I am receiving $87 per month death compensation at the present time. I am working. Do you advise that I change to the new law, Public Law 881, or should I continue to receive benefits under the old law.

A—My advice to you is to change to Public Law 881 at once, effective Jan. 1, 1957, your death compensation will increase to a minimum of $122.00 per month. The fact that you are working has no bearing on the case.

Q—I am the widow of a World War II veteran, and have two minor children. I receive $150 per month combined compensation for the three of us, plus the monthly payments from my husband's national service life insurance. Should I change to benefits under Public Law 881, or should I keep the benefits under the old law? My husband was a chief petty officer at the time of his death, with 16½ years service.

A—The fact that you are receiving national service life insurance benefits has no bearing on your case. The fact that your husband had 16½ years service, and was a chief petty officer has some bearing on the case, however, not enough. If you change at the present time, you would lose $3 per month. My advice is for you to continue to receive benefits under the old law. Then, as soon as your oldest child reaches the age of 18, change to the new law. You will then receive more money.

Q—I am a widow with four minor children. My monthly benefit is $208. Should I change to Public Law 881, or keep my benefits under the present law?

A—If your husband was of any rank below a colonel or naval captain, do not switch now. If your husband was a colonel or naval captain, do not switch unless he had more than 30 years of service. If your husband was a brigadier general or commodore, or any higher rank, switch now, regardless of length of service.

Q—How do national service life insurance (WW II insurance) and serviceman's indemnity (Korean insurance) compare in Public Law 881?

A—Benefits under Public Law 881 can be paid to a widow or children concurrently with national service life insurance. However, if a widow or child chooses benefits under Public Law 881, payments under the serviceman's indemnity will be discontinued.

Here's Text Of President's Thanksgiving Proclamation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower urges the American people in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation, to be grateful this nation's foundations of freedom grow stronger every year and give "hope to fettered peoples that they may walk as free men unafraid."

The annual proclamation sets aside Thursday, Nov. 22, as "a day of national thanksgiving." It calls upon the American people to gather in their places of worship to give thanks to God and "prayerful contemplation to those eternal truths and universal principles of Holy Scripture which have inspired such measure of true greatness as this nation has achieved."

The text of the proclamation: With the completion of the cycle of winter and summer, seed time and harvest, we come to the traditional time of Thanksgiving, when our minds and hearts turn to Almighty God in grateful acknowledgment of His mercies throughout the year.

Let us be grateful that the foundations of freedom in our nation grow stronger with each passing year, giving hope to fettered peoples that they may walk as free men unafraid.

men unafraid; that the yield of our soil and the production of our factories have been abundant, enriching our lives and enabling us to share our bounty with less fortunate ones in other lands; and that the forces of nature are being harnessed for peaceful purposes, bringing limitless possibilities of comfort and happiness both to ourselves and to future generations.

It is also fitting at this season that we should consider God's providence to us throughout our entire history. Let us remember the Pilgrim Fathers who, fleeing from religious oppression, landed on a bleak, forbidding shore and began to carve out what became this great republic which is our happy destiny to love and serve. For their foresight, their courage, and their idealism let us give thanks to the Power which has made and preserved us a nation. Humbly aware that we are a people greatly blessed, both ma-

Ships operating close to Asia have disrupted the normal rotation schedule and others are being speeded to that area in view of the crisis.

Secrecy blankets the movements of many vessels and the Navy has discontinued the practice of revealing the destination of craft leaving Pearl Harbor.

A spokesman said the fleet "is carrying out week old orders to increase and improve our defense positions through redeployment."

Dockworkers Asked To Yield Chestnuts

NEW YORK (AP)—Food importers have appealed to striking longshoremen for help in pulling 2 million pounds of chestnuts out of the fire.

The importers said the chestnuts are buried in the holds of five strikebound ships in the Port of New York. They were headed for the stuffing in American Thanksgiving turkeys.

Worth $500,000, they represent more than half the total annual import volume, dealers said. They said all appeals to the International Longshoremen's Assn. to exempt the nuts from the strike ban have been unavailing.

Builders Told Plan For Boom In '57

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Chicago real estate economist has told members of the Ohio Home Builders Assn. not to be so concerned with the tight money situation but to concentrate on building more homes in 1957.

James C. Downs Jr., predicted the money situation would improve by the middle of 1957 and that by next June new home construction would begin to exceed comparable months of 1956.

The builder today, to be successful, must have land ahead of him; that is, he must have land available for purchase, Downs cautioned.

Parents Today Prove Problem

Famed Cleric's Wife Says Youth Confused

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Parents are problems in the young people's world of today, says Ruth Stafford Peale, wife and partner of the famous Protestant minister, Norman Vincent Peale.

"One third of all the mail we receive," says she, "is from young people between the ages of 11 and 20, asking in various ways, 'What are we going to do about our parents?'"

Mrs. Peale, a charming, youthful-looking woman, modern to her fingertips, speaks with authority as the mother of two daughters and a son, and as co-author with her husband of a regular magazine feature inviting readers to discuss their problems.

"There's no doubt that a great many of today's young people are troubled and confused," she says. "The problems of almost all who write to us boil down to one complaint—Our parents don't understand us."

"Sometimes they feel the household is too strict, sometimes that parents are too busy or indifferent. Some say there is too stern a religious attitude in the home, others say there isn't enough attention to religion."

"From observation I have found that a great many of today's problems with the younger generation stem from the fact that parents think if they provide a good home and good schools for their children, the youngsters should feel secure. There is too much stress on material things."

Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the joint resolution of Congress approved Dec. 26, 1941, which designates the fourth Thursday in November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the Twenty-second day of November of this year, as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day let all of us, of whatever creed, foregather in our respective places of worship to give thanks to God and prayerful contemplation to those eternal truths and universal principles of Holy Scripture which have inspired such measure of true greatness as this nation has achieved. And let us, as the beneficiaries of this greatness, give a good account of our stewardship by helping those in need and by rendering aid, through our religious organizations and by other means, to the ill, the destitute, and the oppressed in foreign lands.

In witness, whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Nation Has Growing Problem In Its Valuable Senior Citizens

How To Care For Aged Holds Many Questions

Situation Increases As Science Adds To Span Of Life

It's nice to retire at 65 — if you can afford it. However, today the compulsory retirement age of 65 is getting a long, hard look by personnel specialists, insurance actuaries, labor unions and welfare groups.

Insurance researchers have found, for example, that over half of all men continue working after 65. Even at 74, there still are 40 per cent "grinding away."

America suddenly is aware that people are living longer. That is what has upset the apple cart. We still are hunting ways and means to care for these older people, to keep them useful, healthy and contented.

At the turn of the century, only four per cent of America's population was over 65. Today the percentage has doubled — is climbing daily.

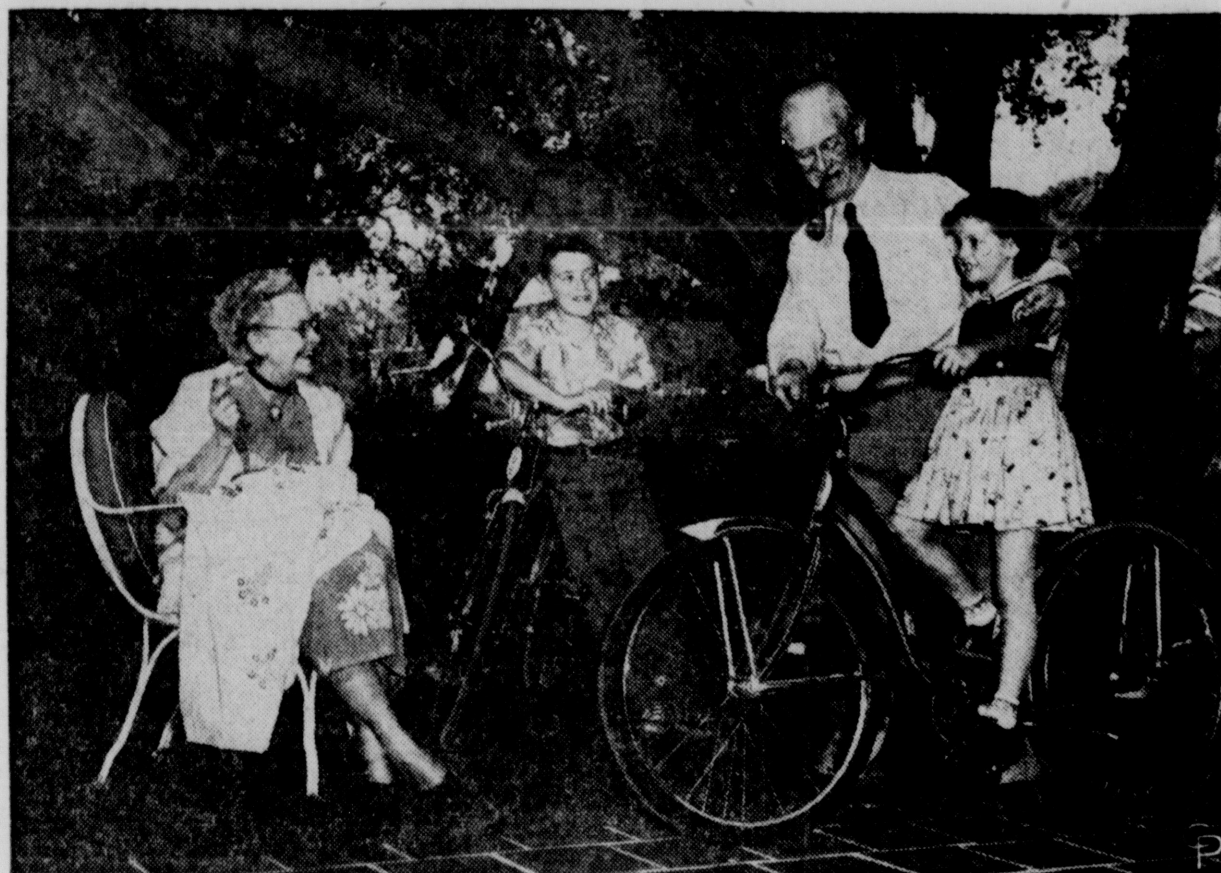

IN THE next few decades, the "plus 65s" in America may reach 25 million—or double the percentage at the turn of the century. As this large group of "senior citizens" increases in number, scientists, legislators, educators and social workers are all seeking ways to make them happier and healthier. Progress is being made — but there still are many problems.

Sound engineers and optical experts are inventing new and more efficient aids to hearing and seeing. For example, at Ohio State university, a machine magnifies the printed page five times.

In New York, a publisher is printing "books for tired eyes" — large-print editions, easy to read. The transistor has enabled hard-of-hearing oldsters to wear practically invisible hearing aids that give them "young ears."

The problem of housing is being studied by architects and city planners.

Houses with no steps to climb, kitchens that save work, bathrooms engineered for safety — everything that promotes comfort, safety and health for older people—are being studied.

Some are social service experiments like the Tompkins Square house in New York; others are private or quasi-private enterprises, including many cottage communities in Florida.

However, it is in the field of geriatrics, the study of the physiology of the aging, that most of the important benefits are coming to older people. Physiologists have been analyzing death records for clues. One finding is that old age does not kill people—disease does.

RESEARCHERS at St. Luke's hospital in St. Louis led Dr. A. A. Albanese to the conclusion that, contrary to widespread belief, the diet for the aged should contain less water and more fat than that of younger adults. His experiments have cast doubt on the belief, now current, that a low fat diet was a preventative of arteriosclerosis.

It is common knowledge that fractures and other body injuries repair more slowly with advancing years. Nutritional studies now reveal that several cups of milk or skimmed milk, included in the daily diet of the elderly, protects bones against brittleness and helps prevent fractures.

Iron deficiency is another problem often found in older people—giving rise to weakness and exhaustion. A lack of the trace elements—copper, cobalt and manganese also are vital elements often found lacking in oldsters.

Meat which contains iron also has been found to be a health stimulant in old people. Likewise, liberal amount of vitamin A may work wonders in a person over 60. Lack of B vitamins often gives rise to neuritis, and even mental disturbances. Vitamin C helps keep the tissues strong and healthy as age advances.

A recent medical report showed that 60 per cent of aged hospital patients suffered from abnormal liver functioning. When they were given a new drug, methisclol, liver function returned to normal.

Here we have, on one hand, various researchers all striving to improve the health of older people, so they may live longer. And on the other hand we have a society barrier that says a man of 65 must retire. But what will he do, from this retirement age, until he dies, possibly 15 or 20 years later?

MOST OF US are not content to enjoy a rocking chair. It is inherent in most people to be useful, wanted, necessary to the life about them. Many an oldster of 65 is just as efficient as a younger man—in many cases even more so—if he is given a chance to prove it.

He resents being put on the shelf. Even if he can afford to retire, he still feels he must do something useful, if only some hobby, church work, or part-time job. That is as it should be.

That is the problem we face today: to give the older people something to do, something to live for. With all of the research being directed to this age group, it should not be long before the problem is licked.

Today, the problem of how to enjoy those later years is a puzzle that each man and woman must personally solve.

Remember that word, "geriatrics." You'll be hearing more and more about it.

Legal Opinion Backs 90-5-5 Highway Financing System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Attorney General's opinion has cleared the way for the state to share the cost of building major thoroughfares inside cities.

The opinion, to Gov. Frank J. Lausche, in effect approved use of 90 per cent federal funds and 5 per cent local funds, plus the cost of plans, with the state paying the rest.

Known as the 90-5-5 construction formula approved by the state highway director, it clashed with State Highway Construction Council insistence on a 90-10 formula without state participation.

The ruling by Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill said that once the council approved projects, that body had little if any further say about them. The opinion held that state expenditures from the Highway Construction and Bond Retirement Fund were subject to negotiation by the highway director.

"Nowhere in the statute relating to the Highway Construction Council," O'Neill said, "do I find any provision for a determination, or the approval of a determination, by the council of a division of costs as between (1) the state and (2) the federal government and local subdivisions of the state."

"The director of highways, of course, is given authority in clear terms to negotiate agreements as to such cost division on behalf of the state with such other participating agencies."

The opinion added that council lacks authority to interfere with plans for greater federal participation in projects than planned when the council approved them.

Concerning council approval of plans that include cost estimates, the opinion held that "it is nevertheless the project itself that is approved, rather than the expenditure of funds in the amounts thus estimated."

Final approval of all such projects rests with the general assembly, which previously authorized this year's program.

The opinion said that where any final cost estimate "is so unreasonably in excess of such preliminary cost estimate that there is no identity between the project, as originally recommended, and that for which the final estimate is made, the award of a contract, therefore, by the director of highways is not authorized by law."

Nation Has Growing Problem In Its Valuable Senior Citizens

How To Care For Aged Holds Many Questions

Situation Increases As Science Adds To Span Of Life

It's nice to retire at 65 — if you can afford it. However, today the compulsory retirement age of 65 is getting a long, hard look by personnel specialists, insurance actuaries, labor unions and welfare groups.

Insurance researchers have found, for example, that over half of all men continue working after 65. Even at 74, there still are 40 per cent "grinding away."

America suddenly is aware that people are living longer. That is what has upset the apple cart. We still are hunting ways and means to care for these older people, to keep them useful, healthy and contented.

At the turn of the century, only four per cent of America's population was over 65. Today the percentage has doubled — is climbing daily.

IN THE next few decades, the "plus 65s" in America may reach 25 million—or double the percentage at the turn of the century. As this large group of "senior citizens" increases in number, scientists, legislators, educators and social workers are all seeking ways to make them happier and healthier. Progress is being made — but there still are many problems.

Sound engineers and optical experts are inventing new and more efficient aids to hearing and seeing. For example, at Ohio State university, a machine magnifies the printed page five times.

In New York, a publisher is printing "books for tired eyes" — large-print editions, easy to read. The transistor has enabled hard-of-hearing oldsters to wear practically invisible hearing aids that give them "young ears."

The problem of housing is being studied by architects and city planners.

SUPPORT NEEDED

A MEETING was held in Washington that may have a very important effect on every American's "right to know" what his government is doing.

Rep. John E. Moss of California met with the subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee which he heads. It has been investigating the curtain of silence that federal department chiefs have succeeded in erecting around their operations.

The committee will consider staff recommendations stemming from long hearings earlier this year on the difficulties the public and press have in obtaining information from some U. S. agencies.

The staff has suggested that changes be made in laws making it clear that government agencies cannot withhold information without specific authority from Congress to do so.

The problem is that many agencies classify nearly everything they do as "restricted" or "secret." Usually this is for the purpose of avoiding embarrassment from mistakes they make; and it is much easier to "put over" some of the questionable deals if only a select, "trusted" few know about them.

The results of this meeting can be very significant if the press and public give Moss such firm support that Congress will consider them a mandate to correct a creeping evil in government.

POLLUTERS EVERYWHERE

ONE CAN become extremely pessimistic on the water situation in the world after seeing the findings by the United Nations on the pollution of ocean water.

Vast damage to sea water has already resulted from oil, it is learned by this survey in which 42 governments participated over a period of four years. Pollution is caused mainly by oil tankers. Anchored offshore, they empty and clean their tanks to avoid the heavier charges incurred when they clean up in ports under conditions that can be controlled.

This and other polluting practices have caused damage to resort beaches, bird life and fishing grounds. Some countries are suffering loss of tourist trade because of beach pollution. Many sea birds are drowned because they cannot fly with oil-soaked wings. Traditional fishing waters are lost through accumulations of oil which repel the fish.

It seems to be a task for international cooperation to make the polluters behave. Increasing world population depends not only on foods currently derived from ocean waters but on other foods which the chemists say they can get to provide sustenance for increasing millions.

Pollution of rivers here at home is bad enough. But if ocean polluters aren't taken in hand, they may deprive the world of its ace in the hole, which is the purification of ocean water for the use of thirsty nations.

ZHUKOV RUMORS

AMONG THE rumors circulating in world capitals is one heard in London that Marshal Gregori Zhukov may take over the reins of government from the more or less beleaguered team of Khrushchev and Bulganin.

The rumor is that a shakeup in the Soviet hierarchy is imminent, with the military expected to emerge as a strong stabilizing influence.

This scuttlebutt has communist party

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The Suez war occurred during the last week of the presidential campaign and therefore was an embarrassment to all those who were engaged in that canvass on either side. It is now obvious that it could not have been postponed because Nasser was organizing a military campaign against Israel which could only have been defeated by Israel taking the offensive.

The issue of aggression then resolves itself almost pathologically into the question of whether the patient is killed by a lethal weapon or is bled to death slowly. That is what happened to Israel which faced utter annihilation at the hands of Nasser.

The choking process was actually in operation when the Israeli army under General Moshe Dayan startled the world by a 110 mile uninterrupted march toward the Suez Canal in one day. Had Nasser any kind of an army, he could have delayed or arrested that march.

Where were the airplanes, the tanks, the arms which the Russians gave him? Of course, the answer to that must be that behind each weapon is a man and if men have no will to fight, a war can be lost by the best supplied of nations.

But there is another question that raises itself all the time: Where were the other Arab countries? Not one of them went to the support of Nasser immediately. As long as he was choking Israel, Syria and Saudi Arabia applauded him and Jordan squeaked its reticent approval. The Arab nations acted only after they discovered that Nasser had not been destroyed, as they undoubtedly expected him to be.

The question arises: What is aggression? For instance is Soviet Russia an aggressor in Hungary? Who can say, no, to that? But the question is fraught with great danger because if a cease-fire order is filed against Soviet Russia, that country might take an antagonistic view of such a resolution.

After all, it was Soviet Russia that boycotted the United Nations for a period and it was because of that boycott that the United States was able to get the Security Council to accept the Korean War as a United Nations police action.

The British and French had no such advantage; they could not foist their police action on the United Nations, although the United Nations has now taken over this task but as a direct attack on Great Britain and France which did not happen when the United States went into Korea.

Nevertheless if the law is the law and the law is to be applied without prejudice to the strong and to the weak, then the same cease-fire order that the United Nations applied to Israel, Great Britain and France should apply to Soviet Russia in Hungary.

It is not understandable why an exception is made of Soviet Russia, which is apparently free to butcher the Hungarians while Israel is not free even to defend itself against the Fedayeen, Nasser's Commandos who have been molesting their neighbors for eight long years. It is not easy to understand these distinctions and nobody has made them clear to the American people who are beginning to wonder why they are involved in all these troubles.

chief Nikita S. Khrushchev headed for the showers, and there is speculation whether he will fare as well as Georgi Malenkov who, when he was deposed, was kept on the Kremlin team as a "bat boy."

If Zhukov's star is indeed rising, what path would he follow? He might tighten the screws on the communist empire. As a military man he might be more inclined to face the world situation realistically.

Perhaps significant for the U. S. is the fact that Zhukov and President Eisenhower are reputedly "friends" — at least on a professional basis and to the extent that national considerations will permit.

CHAPTER 31
"YOU mean," Steve said, "you can't write to Frank Stubbs? Your letters to him might give away . . . his whereabouts?"

"He couldn't even tell me where he was going," said Harriet. "You know, it was so urgent that he hadn't time to even say good-by. Oh, Frank Stubbs . . . when duly called, he was not found wanting. No, no, not Frank Stubbs."

Harriet was pouring beer from the second container.

"Formosa," she said, "Burma, India, wherever you are, Frank Stubbs, I drink to you!" She did, a whole glass of beer, and belched ever so daintily. "Drink to you, my love, and am with you . . ."

Suddenly her eyes were streaming tears. She rose and ran quickly into the bathroom, closing the door behind her. Clara beckoned to us, indicating that she wanted to speak to us in the hallway outside. We followed her.

She looked at us for a moment, then spoke in an oddly cold voice. "I don't know why you want to see Frank Stubbs, and I couldn't care less. You can see what he did to that poor thing, I humored her, I let her have her drunken dreams. The only true thing she said is that he ran out on her without a word . . . after he used the little savings she had. And he's not coming back. I haven't told Harriet and I never will. A friend of mine in Boston read about Frank in the paper and wrote me about it. Frank's dead, he shot himself."

"When?" Steve said. "How long ago?"

"A couple of months," Steve asked.

"Could I see the paper?" Steve asked.

"I haven't got it. My friend didn't send it, just wrote me about it . . ."

She broke off as the door swung in. Harriet, smiling wildly, extended her arms to us. "Come back! You mustn't go, must you, really?"

"I'm afraid so," Steve said. "We're late now."

"It's been so pleasant," Harriet said, "and when Frank comes home we must all get together, mustn't we?"

"Yes," we said. "Good-by."

Steve and I headed for Ninth Avenue to find a cab.

I said, "Do you believe her, Steve? Is Frank Stubbs really dead?"

"How can you check it?" "At the office. The out of town paper files, I'll do it now."

"All right."

"I'll drop you at the school first."

He whistled at an empty cab. He gave the driver directions, then lighted his cigarettes. I didn't look at him; I didn't want to see the worry I knew was in his face. I hoped he wasn't looking at me, either. It was Steve who finally spoke.

"We're not doing so well," he said. "We've just wasted one of our six hours."

"We found out about Frank Stubbs . . ."

"Connie, if Clara's right, if he died a couple of months ago, he couldn't have murdered Anita."

"Well, then at least we've eliminated him."

"That's the trouble," Steve said. "We're getting too good at eliminating people. We haven't found anyone with a real reason to murder Anita. Stubbs had one, but if he's dead, he's out. And Wendell Kipp is out, so far as we know. Anita couldn't very well blackmail a bachelor for infidelity. Bob Spencer . . ."

"He didn't even care enough for Anita to murder her. Leone Webb . . ."

"She wasn't being blackmailed by Anita. And neither was Oliver Bell, if we're to believe Leone. So who does that leave us?"

"Jack Walston and Dottie Harris," I said.

"Yes. Anita could have busted up their dream of having a night club of their own. Do people commit murder because they want a night club?"

"I'm afraid Jack and Dottie aren't the people who would."

"So who killed Anita Farrell?"

"Oh, Steve, we mustn't give up . . ."

"We won't." The cab pulled up in front of the school. "Listen, Connie, after I find out about Stubbs, I'll go home. So you know where to reach me. Yes?"

"Yes. So long, Steve."

"Take care."

"You, too. We're all we've got." "Sweetheart, stop looking at me as if you'll never see me again."

"Steve . . ."

"Scamper, get moving. I shouldn't hang around this neighborhood. Remember who I am?"

"Good-by, Steve."

In front of the elevator bank, Steve said, "Good-by."

Wendell Kipp was standing, obviously waiting for someone, probably someone named Hester Frost. Quickly I turned and stepped through the lobby door of a drug store. I was pretty sure that Kipp had not seen me.

The Crescent School of Dancing was going to have to get along without one of its instructors for a while. This was no time for me to get involved with Wendell Kipp. This was the time for me to stay free to help Steve.

With any luck he would complete his chore at the office in half an hour, then head for home. I decided to get there first.

"The paper store down the block."

"Why? What's . . ."

"Kipp. He's across the street from the apartment. If I try to get in, he'll see me."

I groaned. "He was waiting for me at the school. That's why I came home. But I thought I'd shaken him. Oh, Steve, I'm sorry."

"It's all right."

"What about Frank Stubbs?"

"He's dead. Suicide. Two months ago in Boston."

"Oh, Steve!"

"Yeah, he probably couldn't raise the money to pay off Anita and keep her quiet, so he killed himself."

"He killed himself . . . he didn't kill Anita."

"That's right, Connie. We've got to forget about him as a suspect. Listen, the reason I called . . . I want you to play one of those tapes into the phone for me."

"Sure. Which one do you want to hear?"

"The one with Frank Stubbs."

"But you just said we had to forget about him as a possibility."

"Connie, put it on. There isn't much time . . ."

Steve leaves Connie stranded on a roof top tomorrow, as a murder suspect closes in. Read Chapter 32 of "The Blonde Died Dancing."

DIET AND HEALTH

Sure You Don't Have Oxygen Deficiency?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ARE you getting the right amount of oxygen?

Maybe you aren't. If you have heart or lung trouble, you don't follow these few suggestions designed to help develop the function of the lungs:

1. If you're overweight, reduce — with your doctor's advice, of course.

2. Don't wear tight belts, girdles, corsets or any clothing which restricts you unnecessarily. You're not likely to obtain the full use of your lung capacity with such restrictions.

3. Walk and sit correctly. Maintain good posture at all times.

4. You'll get valuable exercises from such natural things as whistling, singing and humming. Easy laughter also helps maintain good functioning of your lungs.

So, be happy and cheerful and you'll live better and longer.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
A. F.: What causes my tongue constantly to burn? Is there any cure for this condition?

Answer: Burning of the tongue is usually due to infection. An examination of the mouth and nose should be made to determine what disorders are present; then proper treatment can be given.

Just how much oxygen you need depends upon your activities and your physical condition. That's why it's so easy for persons with heart or lung trouble

SUPPORT NEEDED

A MEETING was held in Washington that may have a very important effect on every American's "right to know" what his government is doing.

Rep. John E. Moss of California met with the subcommittee of the Government Operations Committee which he heads. It has been investigating the curtain of silence that federal department chiefs have succeeded in erecting around their operations.

The committee will consider staff recommendations stemming from long hearings earlier this year on the difficulties the public and press have in obtaining information from some U. S. agencies.

The staff has suggested that changes be made in laws making it clear that government agencies cannot withhold information without specific authority from Congress to do so.

The problem is that many agencies classify nearly everything they do as "restricted" or "secret." Usually this is for the purpose of avoiding embarrassment from mistakes they make; and it is much easier to "put over" some of the questionable deals if only a select, "trusted" few know about them.

The results of this meeting can be very significant if the press and public give Moss such firm support that Congress will consider them a mandate to correct a creeping evil in government.

POLLUTERS EVERYWHERE

ONE CAN become extremely pessimistic on the water situation in the world after seeing the findings by the United Nations on the pollution of ocean water.

Vast damage to sea water has already resulted from oil, it is learned by this survey in which 42 governments participated over a period of four years. Pollution is caused mainly by oil tankers. Anchored offshore, they empty and clean their tanks to avoid the heavier charges incurred when they clean up in ports under conditions that can be controlled.

This and other polluting practices have caused damage to resort beaches, bird life and fishing grounds. Some countries are suffering loss of tourist trade because of beach pollution. Many sea birds are drowned because they cannot fly with oil-soaked wings. Traditional fishing waters are lost through accumulations of oil which repel the fish.

It seems to be a task for international cooperation to make the polluters behave. Increasing world population depends not only on foods currently derived from ocean waters but on other foods which the chemists say they can get to provide sustenance for increasing millions.

Pollution of rivers here at home is bad enough. But if ocean polluters aren't taken in hand, they may deprive the world of its ace in the hole, which is the purification of ocean water for the use of thirsty nations.

ZHUKOV RUMORS

AMONG THE rumors circulating in world capitals is one heard in London that Marshal Gregori Zhukov may take over the reins of government from the more or less beleaguered team of Khrushchev and Bulganin.

The rumor is that a shakeup in the Soviet hierarchy is imminent, with the military expected to emerge as a strong stabilizing influence.

This scuttlebutt has communist party

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The Suez war occurred during the last week of the presidential campaign and therefore was an embarrassment to all those who were engaged in that canvass on either side. It is now obvious that it could not have been postponed because Nasser was organizing a military campaign against Israel which could only have been defeated by Israel taking the offensive.

The issue of aggression then resolves itself almost pathologically into the question of whether the patient is killed by a lethal weapon or is bled to death slowly. That is what happened to Israel which faced utter annihilation at the hands of Nasser.

The choking process was actually in operation when the Israeli army under General Moshe Dayan startled the world by a 110 mile uninterrupted march toward the Suez Canal in one day. Had Nasser any kind of an army, he could have delayed or arrested that march.

Where were the airplanes, the tanks, the arms which the Russians gave him? Of course, the answer to that must be that behind each weapon is a man and if men have no will to fight, a war can be lost by the best supplied of nations.

But there is another question that raises itself all the time: Where were the other Arab countries? Not one of them went to the support of Nasser immediately. As long as he was choking Israel, Syria and Saudi Arabia applauded him and Jordan squeaked its reticent approval. The Arab nations acted only after they discovered that Nasser had not been destroyed, as they undoubtedly expected him to be.

The question arises: What is aggression? For instance is Soviet Russia an aggressor in Hungary? Who can say, no, to that? But the question is fraught with great danger because if a cease-fire order is filed against Soviet Russia, that country might take an antagonistic view of such a resolution.

After all, it was Soviet Russia that boycotted the United Nations for a period and it was because of that boycott that the United States was able to get the Security Council to accept the Korean War as a United Nations police action.

The British and French had no such advantage; they could not foist their police action on the United Nations, although the United Nations has now taken over this task but as a direct attack on Great Britain and France which did not happen when the United States went into Korea.

Nevertheless if the law is the law and the law is to be applied without prejudice to the strong and to the weak, then the same cease-fire order that the United Nations applied to Israel, Great Britain and France should apply to Soviet Russia in Hungary.

It is not understandable why an exception is made of Soviet Russia, which is apparently free to butcher the Hungarians while Israel is not free even to defend itself against the Fedayeen, Nasser's Commandos who have been molesting their neighbors for eight long years.

It is not easy to understand these distinctions and nobody has made them clear to the American people who are beginning to wonder why they are involved in all these troubles.

chief Nikita S. Khrushchev headed for the showers, and there is speculation whether he will fare as well as Georgi Malenkov who, when he was deposed, was kept on the Kremlin team as a "bat boy."

If Zhukov's star is indeed rising, what path would he follow? He might tighten the screws on the communist empire. As a military man he might be more inclined to face the world situation realistically.

Perhaps significant for the U. S. is the fact that Zhukov and President Eisenhower are reputedly "friends" — at least on a professional basis and to the extent that national considerations will permit.

CHAPTER 31
"YOU mean," Steve said, "you can't write to Frank Stubbs? Your letters to him might give away... his whereabouts?"

"He couldn't even tell me where he was going," said Harriet. "You know, it was so urgent that he hadn't time to even say good-bye. Oh, Frank Stubbs... when duty called, he was not found wanting. No, no, no, Frank Stubbs."

Harriet was pouring beer from the second container. "Formosa," she said, "Burma, India... wherever you are, Frank Stubbs, I drink to you!"

She did a whole glass of beer, and belched ever so daintily. "Drink to you, my love, and am with you..."

Suddenly her eyes were streaming tears. She rose and ran quickly into the bathroom, closing the door behind her. Clara beckoned to us, indicating that she wanted to speak to us in the hallway outside. We followed her.

She looked at us for a moment, then spoke in an oddly cold voice. "I don't know why you want to see Frank Stubbs, and I couldn't care less. You can see what he did to that poor thing. I humored her, I let her have her drunken dreams. The only true thing she said is that he ran out on her without a word... after he used up the little savings she had. And he's not coming back. I haven't told Harriet and I never will. A friend of mine in Boston read about Frank in the paper and wrote me about it. Frank's dead, he shot himself."

"When?" Steve said. "How long ago?"

"A couple of months." "Could I see the paper?" Steve asked.

"I haven't got it. My friend didn't send it, just wrote me about it..."

She broke off as the door swung in. Harriet, smiling wildly, extended her arms to us. "Come back! You mustn't go, must you, really?"

"I'm afraid so," Steve said. "We're late now."

"It's been so pleasant," Harriet said, "and when Frank comes home we must all get together, mustn't we?"

"Yes," we said. "Good-bye." Steve and I headed for Ninth Avenue to find a cab.

dead? Is he a suicide case?" "I'll check it," Steve said. "We've got to know for sure." "How can you check it?" "At the office. The out of town paper files. I'll do it now."

"All right." "I'll drop you at the school first." He whistled at an empty cab. He gave the driver directions, then lighted his cigarettes. I didn't look at him; I didn't want to see the worry I knew was in his face. I hoped he wasn't looking at me, either. It was Steve who finally spoke.

"We're not doing so well," he said. "We've just wasted one of our six hours."

"We found out about Frank Stubbs..." "Connie, if Clara's right, if he died a couple of months ago, he couldn't have murdered Anita."

"Well, then at least we've eliminated him." "That's the trouble," Steve said. "We're getting too good at eliminating people. We haven't found anyone with a real reason to murder Anita. Stubbs had one, but if he's dead, he's out. And Wendell Kipp is out, so far as we know. Anita couldn't very well blackmail a bachelor for infidelity. Bob Spencer..."

"He didn't even care enough for Anita to murder her. Leone Webb..." "She wasn't being blackmailed by Anita. And neither was Oliver Bell, if we're to believe Leone. So who does that leave us?"

"Jack Walston and Dottie Harris," I said.

"Yes, Anita could have busted up their dream of having a night club of their own. Do people commit murder because they want a night club?"

"I'm afraid Jack and Dottie aren't the people who would." "So who killed Anita Farrell?"

"Oh, Steve, we mustn't give up..." "We won't." The cab pulled up in front of the school. "Listen, Connie, after I find out about Stubbs, I'll go home. So you know where to reach me. Yes?"

"Yes, so long, Steve." "Take care."

"You, too. We're all we've got." "Sweetheart, stop looking at me as if you'll never see me again." "Steve..."

"Scamper, get moving. I shouldn't hang around this neighborhood. Remember who I am?" "Good-bye, Steve."

Wendell Kipp was standing, obviously waiting for someone, probably someone named Hester Frost. Quickly I turned and stepped through the lobby door of a drug store. I was pretty sure that Kipp had not seen me. The Crescent School of Dancing was going to have to get along without one of its instructors for a while. This was no time for me to get involved with Wendell Kipp. This was the time for me to stay free to help Steve. With any luck he would complete his chore at the office in half an hour, then head for home. I decided to get there first.

When the phone rang I nearly screamed. I had been listening for Steve's step on the stairs, the sound of his key in our lock. I had been waiting for our living room door to open and for Steve to walk in. When the phone shrilled through my concentration it was too much for me. My hello was slightly hysterical.

"Connie, what's wrong?" "Oh, Steve... where are you?"

"The paper store down the block." "Why? What's...?" "Kipp. He's across the street from the apartment. If I try to get in, he'll see me."

DIET AND HEALTH

Sure You Don't Have Oxygen Deficiency?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ARE you getting the right amount of oxygen?

Maybe you aren't, if you have heart or lung trouble. You don't have to go flying at terrific heights to develop oxygen deficiency. Persons with crippled hearts or lungs can develop this ailment right here on the ground while performing their daily tasks.

Deficiency Symptoms

Oxygen deficiency often comes on gradually and you may be completely unaware of it. Usual symptoms might include a general feeling of tiredness. You may lose your appetite, become mentally dull and have a poor memory.

Perhaps you'll become belligerent, stubborn, hard to get along with. In this case, the chances are you need the services of a physician, not a psychiatrist.

For Survival

Your lungs and your entire body need oxygen to survive, just as a fire needs it to continue burning. Yet only about 21 percent of the air you breathe is oxygen.

Just how much oxygen you need depends upon your activities and your physical condition. That's why it's so easy for persons with heart or lung trouble to get an insufficient amount of this important element.

Whether you suffer from such disabilities or not, I suggest you follow these few suggestions designed to help develop the function of the lungs:

1. If you're overweight, reduce — with your doctor's advice, of course.

2. Don't wear tight belts, girdles, corsets or any clothing which constricts you unnecessarily. You're not likely to obtain the full use of your lung capacity with such restrictions.

3. Walk and sit correctly. Maintain good posture at all times.

Natural Exercises

4. You'll get valuable exercises from such natural things as whistling, singing and humming. Easy laughter also helps maintain good functioning of your lungs.

Program Highlights Meet Of Presbyterian Group A

Mrs. Mitchell Tells Church's History

Mrs. Donald Mitchell presented the program at the November meeting of Group A of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Fred Mavis of Sunshine St. entertained the group in her home. Mrs. Mavis presided during the business meeting. She conducted the devotionals to open the session. "The Lord's Prayer" was repeated by the members, following which Mrs. Mavis read the 103rd Psalm.

An announcement was made that the December meeting of the group would be the Association tea, set for December 14. The members decided to send Christmas cards to the shut-in members.

Highlight of the program was the talk entitled "History of the Presbyterian Church in Circleville" by Mrs. Mitchell. She stated that the historical committee is at present gathering all the documents concerning the past history of the church and is consolidating this material into a permanent record.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the members and the following guests, Mrs. W. K. Bower and Miss Ruberta Warner.

Miss Cynthia Funk To Be Presented In Piano Recital

Cynthia Funk, 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Funk of 386 E. Franklin St., will be presented in a piano recital in the studio of Mrs. Leon Van Vliet, 157 W. High St.

The recital will be given Sunday, November 25 at 3 p. m. Her solos will include compositions by Beethoven, Burnam, Greig and Nevin.

In playing her selections for two pianos she will be assisted at the second piano by Miss Yvonne Gibson, who is now attending the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Receptionists for the event will be Mary Ellen Goeller of Circleville and Mary Jo Bowers and Kay Morrison, of Ashville.

Practical Nurses Conduct Meeting

The Practical Nurses' Association held its November meeting in Berger Hospital. Attending the session were 14 members and 14 guests.

Mrs. Mary Routt, vice-president, conducted the business meeting. The constitution was read and a committee was appointed to prepare a slate of officers, who will be voted on at the December meeting.

The group decided to hold the Christmas party in the hospital December 21 at 6:30 p. m., when they will have a gift exchange. Following the business, a film was shown by Dr. J. A. Cunningham on the care of post-operative patients, following major surgery, and the benefits derived from early exercise.

The hostesses for the evening, Mrs. George Fissell and Mrs. John Kerr, served lunch in the dining room.

Tea And Bazaar Held In Tarlton

A pre-Christmas tea and bazaar was held in the social rooms of the Tarlton Methodist Church.

The affair was planned by the Young Peoples Sunday School Class of the Church. Mrs. W. E. Defenbaugh, a former teacher of the class, and Mrs. Earl Cowen, wife of the church's pastor, presided at the tea table, which was decorated with a lace cloth and featured an African Violet centerpiece.

Members assisting with the tea were: Mrs. Albert Spangler, Mrs. Richard Rhymer, Mrs. John Cox, Mrs. Lloyd Spung, Mrs. Loren Fogler, Mrs. Merle Drum and Mrs. Joe Jenkins.

Small chickens that are to be broiled should be split into halves lengthwise; the backbone, neck and keel bone should be removed.

Turkey Is Star Of Menu For Thanksgiving Feast

The turkey talk for this week includes the whole big Thanksgiving dinner.

Star of the menu is, of course, the bird himself, but he is special. Instead of just roasting him, the recipe calls for poaching first, roasting second. The result is wonderfully flavorful and tender.

The rest of the meal includes: minted grapefruit, special turkey and rice, holiday squash, green peas with mushrooms, cranberry-strawberry salad, vanilla ice cream with mince-meat sauce, mints and toasted nuts.

Prepare minted grapefruit by: draining two cans grapefruit sections, reserving one cup juice. Place sections in shallow dish.

Combine one tablespoon lemon juice, reserved grapefruit juice and six tablespoons minted jelly. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until jelly is dissolved and mixture comes to full rolling boil. Boil two minutes. Pour over sections. Allow to cool. Chill several hours. Serve in sherbet glasses with juice.

Special Turkey and Rice: First, make Court Bouillon: Place six cups water, one teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon peppercorns, two medium onions, sliced, two stalks celery with leaves, two carrots, one cup chopped parsley, one clove garlic (optional) in kettle or roasting pan large enough to hold turkey.

Rinse 6 to 8 lb. turkey. Tie wings and legs to bird. Place in court bouillon with neck and giblets. Cover tightly (aluminum foil may be tied over roasting pan or kettle, if desired). Simmer over very low heat 1 1/2 hours.

Remove turkey and place in roasting pan. Drain juice, reserving three cups plus two tablespoons. Bake turkey in slow oven, 325 F., 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until done. Heat three cups stock in large sauce-pan. Add 2-3 cups precooked rice and prepare according to package directions. Combine with 1/2 cup mayonnaise and 1/2 cup blanched toasted almonds. Place around turkey last hour of baking. Melt 1/4 cup enriched margarine with remaining two table spoon stock and baste bird occasionally. If desired, vegetables from court bouillon and giblets may be run through food mill or chopped fine and added to rice for additional flavor.

The housewife, shown above, is adding the finishing touches to the cranberry - strawberry salad. To prepare:

Dissolve one package strawberry flavored gelatin in one cup hot water. Add 1/4 cup cold orange juice. Chill until slightly thickened.

Put two cups raw cranberries through food grinder; add one medium apple, diced and three tablespoons sugar. Fold fruit into slightly thickened gelatin.

Pour into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce, garnish with real mayonnaise and apple wedges. Serves 6. Double recipe for 8 servings.

Mince-meat Sauce: Melt three tablespoons enriched margarine in WASHINGTON (AP) — There are drunks and drunks, as everyone knows.

Noisy. Wee-py. Affectionate. Quarrelsome. Just run down the list of your acquaintances. Or look in the mirror, if necessary.

Then there is Nikita S. Khrushchev.

It is no secret that the boss of Russia's Communist party is a handy man with a vodka bottle, though he will settle for champagne or even those effete Western martinis.

He has made an oaf of himself in public more than once.

But he outdid himself last weekend. In two consecutive sentences he revealed much about himself, his confederates and the ruling class of the Soviet Union.

"Red-faced and gesticulating," in the words of an Associated Press story that passed through Red censorship, Khrushchev told a cocktail party audience:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come and see you."

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

Let's take that up point by point.

1. Anybody with an ounce of sense knows that, in this world, you have to get along with people you don't like. Those diplomatic get-togethers aren't just an excuse to get loaded. They're part of the machinery of international relations — a sort of global safety valve. If Khrushchev doesn't know that it's time somebody told him.

2. The "history is on our side" dodge is pure Marx and is at or near the heart of everything the Russians do. That is a main source of Soviet strength. Westerners plan and hope and indeed pray that everything will somehow work out all right. The Russians — the Communists, that is — feel in their bones that their system will dominate the world. And this is true whether a Khrushchev, a Stalin, a Lenin or the Russian equivalent of Joe Smith is running the Kremlin.

There's another Khrushchev remark that may need some pointing up:

"The situation is favorable for us. If God existed, we would thank Him for this."

In other words, in the Russian boss class, God does not exist. Their claim to friendliness toward religion fools some people in this country. You can find people who will tell you: "Why, freedom of worship is guaranteed in their constitution."

So it is — in words.

The fact is, of course, that atheism is at the root of the Communist philosophy and that the new rulers of Russia have actively discouraged religious practices except when — as in World War II — they had to call on the church to help maintain the morale of the people.

Doubtless it would be good for Khrushchev's liver if he gave up vodka sessions.

Still, there's an old Latin proverb about "Veritas in vino," which you can loosely translate as "A man will tell the truth when he has half a skinful."

Maybe it would be worthwhile for the Western people to take up a collection to keep Khrushchev half lit.

Supercarrier Heads For Sea Exercises

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The super-carrier Saratoga, the nation's newest flattop, sailed from Norfolk Monday to spearhead a carrier task force ordered to engage in exercises with Atlantic fleet.

The Saratoga will rendezvous at sea with the carrier Lake Champlain and an undisclosed number of destroyers. The Lake Champlain sailed from Mayport, Fla.

Still at sea is another carrier task force which sailed from Norfolk Nov. 7. It includes the super-carrier Forrestal, the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, the cruiser Des Moines and destroyers.

Police Say Youth Lucky On 'Spin'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 15-year-old youth whom East Cleveland police chased Monday at speeds ranging up to 100 m.p.h. was lucky. Patrolmen said the youth fell out of the car, rolled on a gravel driveway, but was uninjured.

The driverless car crashed into a railroad bridge abutment.

The unidentified driver, who had just arrived from Millstone, Ky., with two companions, said he had been left in the car with the motor running and had decided to take a little ride.

Girl Loses Eye In Cancer Fight

BOSTON (AP) — Little Carol Ann Molinaro has lost her right eye to the surgeon's scalpel in an effort to check the spread of cancer to her brain.

The 3½-year-old girl's cancerous right eye was removed Monday in what doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary called a successful operation. They said there is no indication of a similar growth in the left eye.

Ahead for Carol Ann lies lengthy pathological tests of the optic nerve to determine whether the disease has been contained.

Thanksgiving..1956

This is an average American family. Like all of us, they enjoy a standard of living unequalled in the history of mankind. And, like all of us, their freedom is built on a strong spiritual faith and the democratic principles upon which our nation was founded and has grown great.

With divine guidance, we and our forefathers fought for, won and preserved the basic human freedoms and the dignity of man. Because of this freedom, America is an inspiration and hope of peoples of many lands whose lives are blighted by the iron curtain of slavery.

More than 300 Thanksgivings ago, the colonists who suffered hardships, privation and hunger, were humbly grateful for a good harvest and offered devout thanks to God for the freedom and security they found in the New World.

This Thanksgiving, we continue that sacred tradition. Families throughout the length and breadth of America should pause to reflect on their good fortune . . . to give thanks for their countless blessings . . . to rededicate themselves to eternal vigilance and prayer to keep the priceless heritage of liberty and spiritual freedom.

The members of the Norfolk and Western Family join fellow Americans everywhere in the observance of this significant day. And let us all remember that this year in America Thanksgiving Day is truly a day for thanksgiving, and prayer for peace throughout the world.

He has made an oaf of himself in public more than once.

But he outdid himself last weekend. In two consecutive sentences he revealed much about himself, his confederates and the ruling class of the Soviet Union.

"Red-faced and gesticulating," in the words of an Associated Press story that passed through Red censorship, Khrushchev told a cocktail party audience:

"If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations and don't invite us to come and see you."

"Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you."

Let's take that up point by point.

1. Anybody with an ounce of sense knows that, in this world, you have to get along with people you don't like. Those diplomatic get-togethers aren't just an excuse to get loaded. They're part of the machinery of international relations — a sort of global safety valve. If Khrushchev doesn't know that it's time somebody told him.

2. The "history is on our side" dodge is pure Marx and is at or near the heart of everything the Russians do. That is a main source of Soviet strength. Westerners plan and hope and indeed pray that everything will somehow work out all right. The Russians — the Communists, that is — feel in their bones that their system will dominate the world. And this is true whether a Khrushchev, a Stalin, a Lenin or the Russian equivalent of Joe Smith is running the Kremlin.

There's another Khrushchev remark that may need some pointing up:

"The situation is favorable for us. If God existed, we would thank Him for this."

In other words, in the Russian boss class, God does not exist. Their claim to friendliness toward religion fools some people in this country. You can find people who will tell you: "Why, freedom of worship is guaranteed in their constitution."

So it is — in words.

The fact is, of course, that atheism is at the root of the Communist philosophy and that the new rulers of Russia have actively discouraged religious practices except when — as in World War II — they had to call on the church to help maintain the morale of the people.

Doubtless it would be good for Khrushchev's liver if he gave up vodka sessions.

Still, there's an old Latin proverb about "Veritas in vino," which you can loosely translate as "A man will tell the truth when he has half a skinful."

Maybe it would be worthwhile for the Western people to take up a collection to keep Khrushchev half lit.

The 3½-year-old girl's cancerous right eye was removed Monday in what doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary called a successful operation. They said there is no indication of a similar growth in the left eye.

Ahead for Carol Ann lies lengthy pathological tests of the optic nerve to determine whether the disease has been contained.

Thanksgiving..1956
This is an average American Family.
Like all of us, they enjoy a standard of living unequalled in the history of mankind. And, like all of us, their freedom is built on a strong spiritual faith and the democratic principles upon which our nation was founded and has grown great.
With divine guidance, we and our forefathers fought for, won and preserved the basic human freedoms and the dignity of man. Because of this freedom, America is an inspiration and hope of peoples of many lands whose lives are blighted by the iron curtain of slavery.
More than 300 Thanksgivings ago, the colonists who suffered hardships, privation and hunger, were humbly grateful for a good harvest and offered devout thanks to God for the freedom and security they found in the New World.
This Thanksgiving, we continue that sacred tradition. Families throughout the length and breadth of America should pause to reflect on their good fortune . . . to give thanks for their countless blessings . . . to rededicate themselves to eternal vigilance and prayer to keep the priceless heritage of liberty and spiritual freedom.
The members of the Norfolk and Western Family join fellow Americans everywhere in the observance of this significant day. And let us all remember that this year in America Thanksgiving Day is truly a day for thanking, and prayer for peace throughout the world.

No Surprise: Canton Voted As Top Team

Final Poll Of Season

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It was a mere formality, but 57 sports editors today placed upon the brow of Canton McKinley the Ohio high school football championship crown.

The terrific Bulldogs, leaders of The Associated Press poll all season, defied anyone to take their second straight title from them by blasting Massillon 34-7 in Saturday's finale before almost 23,000 fans.

Of the 57 sports editors in the final poll, only 16 named the McKinley team to the top spot. But no one ignored the Bulldogs, and in the 10-9-8-etc voting they amassed a total of 432 poll points for a rousing 152 edge over second-place Fremont Ross which moved around Mansfield's Tygers by two points in the final ratings.

A year ago McKinley had only a 58-point edge over Massillon for the top spot as the Bulldogs topped the seven-time champions from the throne.

Saturday's win was the 20th straight for Coach Wade Watts' stalwarts, and marked the first time since 1934 they had been able to whip Massillon twice in a row. The 34-point total matched McKinley's entire output against the Tygers in the last seven years, and it hoisted the team to a new scoring record of 490—erasing the 11-game mark of 487 set in 1934.

As a result of winning The Associated Press poll, the Bulldogs won a second leg on the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy. Massillon, winner of the first cup with consecutive titles in 1951, 1952 and 1953, has one leg on the new trophy, which must be won three times for permanent possession.

Only one change in top 10 personnel came in the final poll. East Liverpool's Potters, which lost to New Philadelphia 21-19 and to Steubenville Central Catholic 20-19, edged into the 10th spot with an 8-2 record. The Potters blasted Alliance 35-12 last weekend—after Massillon and Canton McKinley had been able to manufacture only two-touchdown wins over the Aviators. East Liverpool piled up 407 points during the campaign, second only to McKinley among the elite list.

Fremont Ross moved into the runner-up spot on the basis of a 42-0 win over Toledo Scott, a team which fell to McKinley by 46-0. Mansfield slipped to third despite a 23-6 win over Springfield.

Back of the three leaders were Cleveland St. Ignatius, Youngstown Ursuline, Cleveland Benedictine, Lorain, Massillon, Troy and East Liverpool.

Shown are first place votes in parentheses, poll points on a 10-9-8-etc basis and scoring records of the top 10.

DAYTON (AP)—The University of Dayton is considering joining the Missouri Valley Conference, a school spokesman says.

The Rev. Charles L. Collins, chairman of the university's athletic board, said Monday he talked last weekend with Wichita University athletic officials on policies and operations of the loop.

He said the university hopes to send a representative to a conference meeting in St. Louis next January.

CHICAGO (AP)—For the second time this season, Oklahoma's angry Sooners have climbed back to the top of the national football rankings with one terrific display of power after spending a week in second place.

Earlier in the season, Michigan State took over the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press poll of sports writers for one week. Oklahoma cut loose with a crushing 40-0 victory over Notre Dame and regained the lead. Last week Tennessee had a bare two-point edge over the Sooners in the voting. The result was a 67-14 rout of hapless Missouri by Oklahoma.

Today the Sooners were back in front with a 132-point margin over Tennessee's Volunteers. It wasn't because anything happened to the Vols either. They came through Saturday with their eighth straight victory—27-7 over defensively strong Mississippi.

Oklahoma had 111 first-place votes while Tennessee drew 69 firsts.

Iowa, knocking off Ohio State 6-0 in its big game and clinching the Rose Bowl invitation, moved into third place. Texas A&M was fourth and Georgia Tech fifth.

Michigan State, rated third last week, barely held 10th place after a 14-13 loss to Minnesota, which moved into seventh place. Miami of Florida advanced to sixth after knocking Clemson out of the unbeaten ranks and Syracuse moved up to eighth on its rout of Colgate. Michigan went up to ninth while Ohio State dropped out of the top bracket.

In the Circleville-Ashville Lutheran battle, 46 fouls were called. The Trinity squad made good on 16 of 23 attempts and St. Paul connected for 17 of 39.

New Rule Set To Determine Batting Titles

CHICAGO (AP)—Total appearances at the plate instead of official times at bat in the future will determine baseball batting championships.

A new rule under which a batting title will be determined on total appearances was adopted Monday by baseball's Playing Rules Committee.

The rule supercedes the old regulation requiring 400 official times at bat to qualify for a batting championship.

Had the new rule been in effect two years ago, Ted Williams of Boston, not Bob Avila of Cleveland, would have won the American League title.

Committee Chairman Jim Gallagher read the new rule:

"The individual batting champion shall be the player with the highest batting average, provided he is credited with as many or more total appearances at the plate in league championship games as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season, multiplied by 3.1."

"Total appearances at the plate shall include official times at bat, plus bases on balls, times hit by pitcher, sacrifice hits, sacrifice flies, and times awarded first base because of interference or obstruction."

In 1954, Williams finished with a .345 average in 386 official at bats. Avila had a .341 mark for 555 official at bats.

Hart Awarded TKO In Constance Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Garnett (Sugar) Hart isn't quite a new Sugar Ray Robinson at this stage of his career but the 21-year-old Philadelphia welterweight is a strong candidate for Rookie of the Year honors.

Even his latest victim, Hector Constance of Trinidad, had to admit "he's a good boy" after he was stopped for the first time in his 44-bout career Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena. However, Constance and his handlers said Referee Ray Miller was more responsible for the technical knock-out in 1:49 of the 10th than Hart.

"I admit it if I am hurt," said Constance. "But in no time was I in trouble. I took pride in my record of never having been stopped. I think Miller was wrong."

Hayes Says OSU's
String To Stand

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State Football Coach Woody Hayes said Monday he believes the Bucks' string of 17 Big Ten wins is a record that will stand at least three years.

The string ended Saturday as Iowa defeated Ohio State 6-0.

"The best any team now has is three consecutive wins," Hayes said. "So that team would have to go into the 1959 season to tie us."

"We know our record is good for at least three years," Hayes added. "When I took up coaching I knew there would be days like that one at Iowa—even before my mother told me."

Brundage's Purity Stand Vote Down

MELBOURNE (AP)—The International Olympic Committee on the eve of the opening of the 1956 games rebuffed its president, Avery Brundage, and voted down his proposal to include in the oath a promise by athletes that they intend to remain amateurs.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A LEAF WAGON

A coaster wagon can be converted to a carrier for easy transportation of leaves to the compost heap or burner. The removable carrier also extends the capacity of the wagon for other purposes.

The carrier uses 1 by 2-inch lumber. Length of the rails depends upon the dimensions of the wagon.

The space between the bottom of the posts and the lower edge of the bottom rails should be equal to the wagon depth, and preferably so the posts will rest on the wagon floor and the rails on the edges of the wagon sides.

Fasten the carrier together with 4-penny finishing nails—or for a sturdier job with nails or screws and glue.

If the carrier is to be used for hauling heavy materials, it should be bolted to the wagon sides.

Oklahoma cut loose with a crushing 40-0 victory over Notre Dame and regained the lead. Last week Tennessee had a bare two-point edge over the Sooners in the voting. The result was a 67-14 rout of hapless Missouri by Oklahoma.

Today the Sooners were back in front with a 132-point margin over Tennessee's Volunteers. It wasn't because anything happened to the Vols either. They came through Saturday with their eighth straight victory—27-7 over defensively strong Mississippi.

Oklahoma had 111 first-place votes while Tennessee drew 69 firsts.

Iowa, knocking off Ohio State 6-0 in its big game and clinching the Rose Bowl invitation, moved into third place. Texas A&M was fourth and Georgia Tech fifth.

Michigan State, rated third last week, barely held 10th place after a 14-13 loss to Minnesota, which moved into seventh place. Miami of Florida advanced to sixth after knocking Clemson out of the unbeaten ranks and Syracuse moved up to eighth on its rout of Colgate. Michigan went up to ninth while Ohio State dropped out of the top bracket.

Nixon Scores Ace On Florida Course

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Nixon shot a hole-in-one here, something that President Eisenhower, an avid golfer, never has accomplished.

It was on a nine-hole course at the hotel where Nixon is vacationing. Nixon used a No. 8 iron and pitched into a strong wind to score his 100-yard ace. He was playing with his bodyguards.

Pontious EUB, Lutheran Five Win Cage Tilts

New Rule Set
To Determine
Batting Titles

In two County Church League games played last night at the Franklin St. Armory, the Pontious EUB five overwhelmed the Nazarene team, 93 to 42, and the Trinity Lutheran squad of Circleville squeezed by Ashville's St. Paul Lutherans, 62 to 57.

The Nazarene cause was hampered in the final period when two of their regulars were lost via the foul route.

Don Hinton of Pontious gained scoring honors for the evening, swishing the nets for 34 points. Bob Fowler was high man for the Nazarene quintet with 17 points.

In the Circleville-Ashville Lutheran battle, 46 fouls were called. The Trinity squad made good on 16 of 28 attempts and St. Paul connected for 17 of 39.

Cecil Galloway with 30 points was high scorer for the winners. Carl Bumgarner collected 22 for St. Paul.

Hart Awarded TKO In Constance Bout

Hayes Says OSU's
String To Stand

NEW YORK (AP)—Garnett (Sugar) Hart isn't quite a new Sugar Ray Robinson at this stage of his career but the 21-year-old Philadelphia welterweight is a strong candidate for Rookie of the Year honors.

Even his latest victim, Hector Constance of Trinidad, had to admit "he's a good boy" after he was stopped for the first time in his 44-bout career Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena. However, Constance and his handlers said Referee Ray Miller was more responsible for the technical knockout in 1:49 of the 10th than Hart.

"I admit it if I am hurt," said Constance. "But in no time was I in trouble. I took pride in my record of never having been stopped. I think Miller was wrong."

Hayes Says OSU's String To Stand

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State Football Coach Woody Hayes said Monday he believes the Bucks' string of 17 Big Ten wins is a record that will stand at least three years.

The string ended Saturday as Iowa defeated Ohio State 6-0.

"The best any team now has is three consecutive wins," Hayes said. "So that team would have to go into the 1959 season to tie us."

"We know our record is good for at least three years," Hayes added. "When I took up coaching I knew there would be days like that one at Iowa—even before my mother told me."

3 Cage Games Set Thursday At Coliseum

Insurance Agency

Circleville's industrial basketball league will feature three more fast-moving cage contests Thursday night at the fairgrounds coliseum.

All cage fans in this area are invited to attend the court battles. Admission is free.

The league, composed of six teams, includes such top-notch players from this district as Jack Young and Jim McConnel, former Circleville High School stars, and Jack Hutchinson, former Ashville standout. Many other former out-

Brundage's Purity Stand Vote Down

MELBOURNE (AP)—The International Olympic Committee on the eve of the opening of the 1956 games rebuffed its president, Avery Brundage, and voted down his proposal to include in the oath a promise by athletes that they intend to remain amateurs.

HERE'S HOW... MAKE A LEAF WAGON

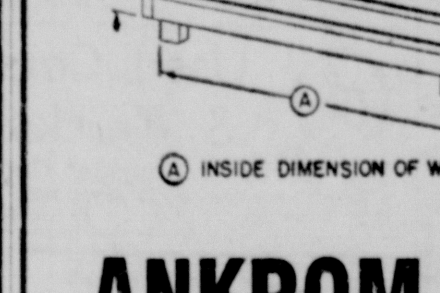

A coaster wagon can be converted to a carrier for easy transportation of leaves to the compost heap or burner. The removable carrier also extends the capacity of the wagon for other purposes.

The carrier uses 1 by 2-inch lumber. Length of the rails depends upon the dimensions of the wagon.

The space between the bottom of the posts and the lower edge of the bottom rails should be equal to the wagon depth, and preferably so the posts will rest on the wagon floor and the rails on the edges of the wagon sides.

Fasten the carrier together with 4-penny finishing nails—or for a sturdier job with nails or screws and glue.

If the carrier is to be used for hauling heavy materials, it should be bolted to the wagon sides.

LEGAL NOTICE
The board of revision has revised the tax return of the assessment of real property and the valuations completed and are open for public inspection in the office of the county auditor.

Pickaway County Auditor

IN THE PROBATE COURT, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO
Etta Miller, administratrix of the estate of Frank Griffey, deceased, Plaintiff,
-vs-
Defendants,
No. 17906
Catherine Foster, whose address is unknown and cannot, with reasonable diligence, be ascertained, will take notice that Etta Miller, administratrix of the estate of Frank Griffey, deceased, on the 5th day of November, 1956, filed her petition in the probate court within and for the county of Pickaway, and state of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administering his estate; that he died intestate in fee simple of said county to-wit: Being a part of Lot No. Two (2) of the Subdivision of the land owned by J. A. Beckett (deceased) and a part of Survey No. Seven Thousand Four Hundred Fifty-nine (7459) Virginia Military District.

Sokolsky's

For instance, the question might well be asked why President Eisenhower, in his October 31 speech from Washington, when he stated the simple road instead of discouraging on the thesis of Professor James T. Shotwell which may be summarized in the phrase that war is not a suitable instrument for the settlement of international disputes.

If instead of that speech, suppose he had said that nobody having asked the United States, in advance of a decision, to join in this enterprise on either side, we shall stay out of it altogether. Perhaps the President would have accomplished as much by that as by developing a doctrine of manifest right from which we dissent. How does one dissent from what is manifestly right?

And if we dissent from what is a manifest right on the part of Great Britain and France, why did we not protest from what was a manifest wrong, the invasion of Hungary by Soviet Russia and the bombardment of Budapest after Nagy had announced his country's withdrawal from the Warsaw Pact?

There must be a logic to all this, but the logic eludes me. Perhaps there is no logic.

Harry Gilmer of the Detroit Lions had only four of 122 passes intercepted in National Football League games in 1955.

AP Guesspert Picks Bucks To Swarm Over Michigan

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NANDI, Fiji Islands (AP) - Football pickers normally are confused. But it gets worse as you travel toward Australia and cross the date line with today automatically becoming tomorrow. And to make it worse, the police in this tropical outpost wear skirts - that's right, skirts.

With those handicaps, here's the week's football winners:

Ohio State over Michigan: The Buckeyes' ruthless ground attack to bring Ohio State a tie for the Big Ten title. It is the final game for Ron Kramer, Michigan's great end. It is a Saturday game.

Colgate over Brown: The annual turkey day attraction for New Englanders. But it shouldn't be a 25-0 runaway for Colgate as it was a year ago.

Yale over Harvard: Dennis McMill to give the Harvards a very disagreeable Saturday afternoon. Georgia Tech over Florida: A Saturday bruiser. Tech gets the edge in belief the Engineers will devise a way to stop Jackie Simpson.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

THURSDAY
Penn over Cornell, Davidson over Furman, Maryland over North Carolina State, William & Mary over Richmond, Virginia Tech over Virginia Military, South Carolina over Wake Forest, Washington University over Washington and Lee, Denver over Colorado A & M, Idaho over Montana, Oregon State over Oregon.

FRIDAY
Miami over West Virginia.

SATURDAY
EAST: Boston College over Brandeis, Villanova over Iowa State, Princeton over Dartmouth, Columbia over Rutgers, Pittsburgh over Penn State.

MIDWEST: Iowa over Notre Dame, Michigan State over Kansas State, Illinois over Northwestern, Minnesota over Wisconsin, Purdue over Indiana, Tulsa over Wichita.

SOUTH: Mississippi Southern over Alabama, Auburn over Florida State, Clemson over Virginia, Arkansas over LSU, Duke over North Carolina, Tennessee over Kentucky.

SOUTHWEST: Texas Christian over Rice, Houston over Texas Tech, Baylor over Southern Methodist.

Five Percent Hike In Income Seen For Farmers Next Year

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Based on current agricultural outlook, net cash incomes of Ohio farmers will average about 5 percent higher in 1957 than they did this year, an Ohio State University extension economist predicts.

Robert Schwartz reached this conclusion by applying estimated changes in costs of things purchased to quantities used by 246 Ohio farmers in 1955. His calculations are based on the assumption that 1957 gross cash receipts of farmers will be about 4 percent greater than in 1956, as now indicated in forecasts by agricultural economists.

Assuming that quantities of fuel, fertilizer, seed, labor and other commodities used in production will remain the same, the net cash income of farmers should average 3.6 percent higher this year than last, and 5.7 percent higher next year than this year, Schwartz says.

The economist expects seed costs next year to be up 7 percent; feed costs up 1 percent, machinery up 2 percent and farm labor costs are expected to be more than off-up 3 percent. These higher costs set by an increase in gross cash receipts of from 3 to 4 percent.

Ohio farmers will vote December 11 on the kind of planting controls they want on next year's corn crop.

Farmers eligible to vote in the national referendum will be those in Ohio's 1957 commercial corn producing counties who produced corn this year. Of Ohio's 88 counties, 71 are in the commercial corn producing area.

Wallace Barr, Ohio State University extension economist, says the referendum will provide farmers with an opportunity to choose whether they want allotments with fewer acres of corn or a corn base program with more acres.

If the corn base plan receives a 2-3 vote nationally, the economist explains, farmers must put acreage equal to 15 percent or more of their corn base in the acreage reserve or the conservation reserve phase of the Soil Bank to receive highest price supports. Under the plan the Secretary of Agriculture would determine the level of price supports, which could range from 0 to 90 percent, and the national corn base would be 51 million acres, or about 17.8 percent larger than the 1956 allotment.

If the corn base plan fails to receive a 2-3 vote nationally, farmers would need to comply with their corn acreage allotments to be eligible for price supports.

The price support level would be 75 to 90 percent of parity, depending on supply, and the national allotment would be 37.3 million acres, or 16 percent smaller than the 1956 allotment.

Whichever plan the farmers choose, Barr says, their participation in the Soil Bank acreage reserve program will be voluntary, but they will have to reduce their corn acreage, either from their allotments or from their corn base.

Farmers aren't the only group receiving financial help from Uncle Sam. In fact, payments to agriculture represent only a small part of the government's total subsidy program, an Ohio State University agricultural economist notes.

Francis B. McCormick, in a study of the government's total financial aid program, cites a section of the federal budget to show that business, labor, veterans, and other groups also sit at the subsidy table.

An analysis of the aids and special services section of the budget for the seven fiscal years 1949-55, shows, McCormick says, that during this period agriculture received about 3.5 billion dollars, business almost 6 billion, veterans over 32.5 billion. Almost 10 billion dollars was used for "general aids."

Agricultural funds, the economist explains, were used mainly for losses on price support programs, expenses for the International Wheat Agreement, payments for removal of surplus commodities and administrative expenses of loan programs. They did not include aids to farmers through favorable rates or soil conservation payments.

Business aids and special services included portions of the postal deficit, maritime operation subsidized and navigation and other aids to the shipping industry, aids for air navigation, and net losses occurring on defense production aids. They did not include benefits brought about by expenditures to stimulate housing construction, economical sources of electric power, or flood control.

The largest federal expenditure for labor was used for federal-state programs of unemployment insurance and public employment offices. The two largest items in the "general aids" category, according to McCormick, were for expenses for the school lunch program and public assistance grants made by what is now the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.
